Americans Want A Change, Says Nixon

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Richard M. Nixon is campaigning for the votes of the nation's middle class—"the forgotten Americans" who he says are threatened by inflation and violence in the streets.

"They work in the offices of America, they work in the factories of America, their sons man the walls of freedom around the world," the Republican presidential candidate told a rally Thursday night.

"These are the forgotten Americans and they have been silent. Silent, but now they are waking up and their voices are being heard. And their voices are going to sweep across America and drown out those who would destroy America," he added.

Today Nixon moves his campaign into the Southwest for a visit to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration installation at Houston, Tex., and then a speech in the Texas city at night.

Like California, Texas is one of the big states Nixon feels he must carry to win the presidency.

A crowd estimated by police at 20,000 overflowed Buck Shaw Football Stadium at the University of Santa Clara, south of San Francisco, to hear a tanned and strong voiced Nixon at the first full scale rally at which balloons and Nixon signs filled the air.

Nixon said the nation's working class men and women are neither rich nor poor.

Attacking Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Nixon said the Democrats nominated a man "who helped make the policies that got us into trouble."

The people, he said, "want a change in American life and they're going to get it." He promised "new leadership that will bring the war to an end on an honorable basis."

Clifford appeared at the Press Club luncheon after a series of high level policy discussions, including a session of the National Security Council chaired by President Johnson.

Cities Czech Events

Those sessions weighed the implications of Russia's revision to a hard line, and possible action the United States might take at the diplomatic and military level to shore up Western defenses.

There were the related developments: —Citing the Czech situation, the State Department announced cancellation of a tour of Russia by the University of Minnesota concert band and a second ceremonial flight marking the start of commercial air service between New York and Moscow.

—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, commenting after a White House meeting, said there was a possibility the Senate will not act this year on the nuclear nonproliferation treaty.

No Missile Cut

—The State Department branded as "indecent and outrageous" attacks in the Soviet press which said the Atlantic Alliance had planned to take over Czechoslovakia before the Russians.

Clifford announced that "in the light of all current developments our prudent course is to press forward as planned with the Sentinel" antimissile system.

Pentagon officials, searching for possible savings to meet congressional demands for a $3-billion defense spending cut this year, had considered delaying a start on the Sentinel for some months.

But Clifford disclosed he had ordered that the $5-billion Sentinel system be exempt from any such economy cuts.

Clifford Strong On U.S. Forces In West Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford says the United States must toughen its negotiating position toward Russia by pushing missile development and defense.

Clifford also came out strongly for keeping "a significant American military presence in Western Europe," which feels threatened by the concentration of Soviet troops in Czechoslovakia.

The defense chief's statements before the National Press Club were among several developments Thursday to indicate a toughening attitude since the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Need Strength

Clifford said recent developments confirm that "when and if we negotiate, safety and success demand that we negotiate from strength."

Clifford indicated that he believes the climate may not be right for the arms control talks which the Soviet Union has agreed to.

"We can continue to hope that, at an appropriate time, these talks can take place," he said.

know when the committee might act on the nomination.

Dirksen and Mansfield commented at separate sessions with newsmen. But they agreed that even if the nomination gets out of the judiciary committee, it is doubtful if the necessary two-thirds majority could be obtained to break a filibuster in the Senate.

Stalled by the controversy over Fortas' appointment is Johnson's nomination of another old friend, Federal Judge Homer Thornberry, to be an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

Unless Fortas is confirmed, there won't be any vacancy on the court for Thornberry to fill since Warren has made his retirement is contingent on approval of a successor.

Registration

WASHINGTON (AP) — Motor vehicle registration in the United States will reach almost 100 million by the end of this year, the Federal Highway Administration estimated Thursday.

The agency put the total at 99,958,000, an increase of about three million over 1967.

Passenger car registrations are to reach about 83 million, with that of trucks and buses totaling about 17 million.

Welfare Moms Carted To Jail At Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Washenaw County Sheriff Douglas J. Harvey said he received three telephone calls Thursday night threatening the lives of his wife and three children as well as a threat to burn down his house as a result of the arrests of 49 persons following a sit-in by welfare mothers.

Harvey said he has moved his family away from his home.

Late Thursday sheriff's deputies arrested 14 mothers who refused to leave the Washenaw County Building where they held a sit-in demonstration in protest of what they claim are insufficient welfare payments to provide clothes for their children. The mothers receive aid to dependent children (ADC).

Students Arrested

Also arrested were 28 University of Michigan students who joined in the demonstration, as well as other persons.

Meanwhile, Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled Wednesday that the state will pick up a $2 million tab for school clothing for children of ADC mothers who had staged an eight-day sit-in at the Wayne County Social Services Office in Detroit.

Kelley ruled that lack of adequate school clothing constitutes an emergency and that ADC children in such situations are entitled to emergency clothing allowances provided under the Michigan Social Services Appropriation Act.

State-Wide

A spokesman for the attorney general said the ruling applies to all counties in the state, although each county can determine the dollar amount which will buy "adequate" clothing.

In Ann Arbor, jailed mothers were freed on $25 bond each from money raised Thursday night at a student rally on the U. of M. campus. The jailed students were freed after bond was posted by Barbara Newell, a university interim vice president who got the money from a special fund used to bail students out of jail.

A rally was scheduled for today on the U-M campus by leaders of the group in support of the mothers.

Editor Arrested

Thursday's arrests followed by 24 hours an incident involving Stephen H. Wildstrom, managing editor of the Michigan Daily, U-M's student newspaper. He was arrested shortly after a scuffle with Washenaw sheriff's deputies, who refused to let him attend a meeting Wednesday in which county supervisors were discussing the issue of welfare payments to ADC mothers.

Harvey said Wildstrom was not allowed in because a member of the Michigan Daily staff who had identified himself to Lt. William L. Mulholland was already at the meeting. A Michigan Daily spokesman said they had no one at the meeting.

Other news media had agreed to let only one staff member cover the meeting, Harvey said, but the Michigan Daily wanted six or eight.

Dispute Blocks Action In U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.S.-Soviet disagreement dogged the U.N. Security Council's 10 nonpermanent members today as they discussed what to do about Israel's complaint that Egyptian troops killed two Israeli soldiers and kidnapped a third in an ambush by the Suez Canal Aug. 26.

The United States is demanding action and the Soviet Union is threatening a veto. Many diplomats felt general agreement would be so hard to reach that it would be next week before the council could meet again to wind up the debate, which started Wednesday.

Humphrey Claims He Is Best Peace Bet

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says he thinks he would probably be more likely to bring peace in Vietnam than Richard M. Nixon would. But he hopes the Johnson administration can end the war by January.

The vice president gave these assessments to reporters Thursday night as he returned home for a final weekend of rest before resuming his presidential campaign Monday by riding in a ticker tape parade and speaking to a rally in Philadelphia.

Arriving at Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport, Humphrey was asked about a CBS report that Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, his defeated Democratic opponent, has felt since March that 1968 is Nixon's year.

"I surely don't believe it and that's the only comment," Humphrey shot back.

He was then asked about the report's conclusion that McCarthy "suspects" Nixon would be more likely to settle the war because he is not identified with the policies of the last four years.

"I don't agree with that," Humphrey said, adding, "I think I have every bit as good a chance and maybe a good deal better" to end the war.

"In the meantime," he added, "I am hopeful that the present administration will be able to end that war."

Turning to his Republican opponent, Humphrey said, "Mr. Nixon is not known as a peace maker. His life has been much more characterized by the field of the cold war policy."

Earlier, talking with reporters aboard his campaign plane on the flight from Washington, Humphrey said Nixon's campaign opener in Chicago Wednesday reminded him of Thomas E. Dewey's unsuccessful 1948 bid for the presidency.

"I remember when Tom Dewey thought he could glide through a campaign full of love and kisses, all he thought he had to do was smile and look pretty," he said.

But Humphrey indicated he expects Nixon to switch later to the more aggressive campaigner of past years. "Wait until the going gets tough—they revert to form," he said.

Circle Da Nang In Barbed Wire

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — Da Nang and its 320,000 residents are being circled by a double ring of barbed wire fences in the first allied effort to seal off a major city from Viet Cong infiltrators.

Dubbed Lam's Wall after its architect, Lt. Gen. Hoang Xuan Lam, the anti-guerrilla barrier consists of two fortified lines—one around the city's outskirts and the second cutting through the rice paddies and foothills seven miles away.

The inner barrier, a 100-yard-wide strip with parallel barbed wire fences, minefields and watchtowers, was completed nearly two months ago.

U.S. Marines and Seabees and Vietnamese army engineers are pushing construction of the 22-mile outer barrier. It is expected to be completed within a month to six weeks, according to Lam, commander of the 1st military corps area in northern South Vietnam.

Both barriers are disruptive to farmers, travelers and even young lovers, but "they may save Da Nang from the type of street fighting that killed so many civilians in Saigon and Hue, one of Lam's aides said.

Die-Hards Push For 4th Party Slot On Ballots

By The Associated Press

Die-hard supporters of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy are pushing for fourth-party slots on the ballots of several states, despite McCarthy's removal of his name as fast as it gets on some ballots.

An Associated Press survey shows McCarthy backers are working hardest in 12 states.

The push was successful in Indiana and Iowa, but McCarthy asked that his name be stricken.

McCarthy's formal disclaimer requires removal of his name under Indiana and Iowa law. On other states, however, not even the disclaimer can keep a man's name off the ballot if supporters fulfill the legal requirements.

Workers are still busy circulating petitions in Minnesota, Tennessee, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Vermont, Arizona, Florida, Delaware, Nebraska and California.

The threat of a fourth-party drive drawing disenchanted voters from the regular parties was compounded Thursday by the defection of a second Southern governor from the Democratic ticket.

Gov. John Bell Williams said he and the Mississippi delegation rejected by the Democratic convention would support third-party candidate George C. Wallace.

Gov. John J. McKeithen of Louisiana denounced the Democratic ticket earlier, although he stopped short of a formal endorsement for Wallace.

Wallace was resting in Miami Beach, Fla., today.

'Doc Adams' Hit By Heart Attack

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Milburn Stone is recuperating after a mild heart attack. His agent says Stone will be back at work in four weeks.

Stone, 64, "Doc Adams" of the "Gunsmoke" television series, was stricken Tuesday night at his Hollywood home.

He won an Emmy this year for his portrayal of the kindly but tough-talking doctor on the TV series which is going into a new season.

Dirksen Tosses Off Assassination Threats

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was a sure sign Congress was back in session. The champion of the marigold, the protector of birds was holding court.

Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen, Republican minority leader from Pekin, Ill., was perched on a table in the Senate press gallery with a cup of coffee in his hand cigarettes nearby, holding his weekly news conference for the first time in a month.

Tousle-haired and irrepressible as ever, not even a story about a report that he was marked for assassination escaped the wry touch.

"I don't want my head blown off," Dirksen said he told police after one of three reports of threats on his life.

"I've got flowers in bloom and they need me. I've got 65 bird feeders now and the birds need me," he said.

But the news conference, darting as usual from anecdote to reminiscence to hard answers, touched on more than birds, flowers and assassination.

What did he think of chances the Senate would confirm Abe Fortas' nomination as chief justice?

"Not roseate," he intoned.

Did he think President Johnson should withdraw the nomination?

"I don't know what the President should or shouldn't do. I'm not the president. I should be but I'm not."

A search for his views on whether the Senate should return for more business after the elections somehow wandered into an account of how a florist's association gave him a gold rose as an award and the report that his own golden tea roses "are doing beautifully this year."

Cong Use Human Shields In Fight North Of Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — A veteran Viet Cong battalion, herding women and children in front as human shields smashed into a company of American paratroopers in three waves early today. Thirty-one Americans were killed and 27 wounded.

The waves of troops from the Viet Cong's Cu Chi Regiment broke through a company from the U.S. 101st Airborne Division 26 miles northwest of Saigon.

The Viet Cong and the paratroopers were still locked in battle as night fell.

Thirty-one Viet Cong have been reported killed so far.

AP photographer Max Nash reported from the battlefield that many of the Americans were killed by the Viet Cong as they lay wounded on the field.

Three Battles Erupt

The battle was one of three fought northwest and southwest of Saigon today in which, according to incomplete reports, at least 110 of the enemy were killed and 150 persons seized as suspected Viet Cong.

A Communist defector had told U.S. intelligence officers that Viet Cong troops were meeting Thursday in the village of Ap Trang Dau, nine miles from a major allied military base housing the headquarters of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division and a South Vietnamese training base for rangers.

Troops from the 25th Division put a cordon around the village, and the Viet Cong tried unsuccessfully three times to break out.

Charge In Waves

Suddenly, Nash reported, about 300 enemy troops charged through rice paddies into one American paratrooper company 150 yards away. They came in three waves. At command headquarters in Cu Chi, the voice of a radio operator came through: "They are coming, they are coming." Then the radio went dead.

U.S. officers said the first wave of enemy troops came running shoulder-to-shoulder through the night, screaming, firing assault rifles and pushing women and children in front of them as human shields.

Capture Supplies

After breaking the cordon, the enemy vanished into the darkness, leaving 31 of their own dead on the battlefield. Nash said some of the third wave enemy troops had bamboo poles.

Ask Speed Slash On 2-Lane Roads

CHEBOYGAN (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley today advocated lowering speed limits on two-lane highways to 50 miles an hour during the day and 45 miles an hour at night.

Kelley spoke at a Governor's Regional Traffic Safety Conference at Cheboygan.

The attorney general said four years that the most dangerous roads in our state are not the expressways but the two-lane roads," Kelley said.

"I recognize the difficulty in reducing the speed limits on these roads, but I recognize that the alternative appears to be greater death and carnage," the attorney general said.

He said the speed limit reduction also has the backing of the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Kelley also urged that the

Ask Speed Slash On 2-Lane Roads

State Legislature pass laws to enable Michigan to qualify for federal funds under the Federal Highway Safety Act of 1968.

Steps that must be taken before the state can qualify for the federal funds, Kelley said, include:

—A medical evaluation board to advise the secretary of state on physical competency requirements for motorists.

—Special examinations and training for motorcycleists.

—Regulation of commercial driver training schools.

—Authority to chemically test dead and unconscious victims of traffic accidents suspected of having been drinking.

Kelley also called for "a halt to our weekend death lottery by ending the death predictions given out by some highway safety authorities predicting how many people will die during a holiday weekend then keeping a running tally to check the death-guess experts."

"This has not proven to be a valuable tool in keeping those deaths down," he said.

Daley Accepts Network Time

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley will get his chance to show in at least eight cities his view of what happened in demonstrations during the week of the Democratic National Convention.

A statement signed by the mayor and released Thursday by an aide said Daley has accepted the offer of prime time by two broadcasting companies.

A documentary program, prepared by the mayor's office, will be shown on the Metromedia television and radio network, reaching New York, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Washington and Kansas City.

The Chicago-based WGN Continental Broadcasting Co. also will show the documentary through its outlets in Chicago, Denver and Duluth, Minn. The firm has offered to make the program available to any other station interested in showing it.

Time and date of the airing have not been set, the aide said, but will be announced shortly. It was not announced who will narrate the film.

Table School Aid Plan:

Council Says 'No' To Financing Buses

A proposal by Councilman Harold Vanlerberghe to have the City of Escanaba advance money to the Escanaba Area Public School District to finance operation of school buses for one month was tabled unanimously after discussion Thursday night.

Vanlerberghe emphasized that he was not critical of the Board of Education in the present financial problem that has brought a halt to school busing service in the Area District that includes Wells, Ford River and Cornell Townships and the City of Escanaba. The bus service is not provided for students residing within the city.

Busing of township students was not started this school year after failure (for the fifth time) of a school operating millage election.

Vanlerberghe noted that although the City Council has no jurisdiction in the matter, there have been letters to the newspaper questioning the interest of city leadership in solving the problem. Vanlerberghe read a portion of one letter written by a Danforth resident who asked "What's the matter with heads of our town?"

Legality Questioned Vanlerberghe added that he had expected "people to be here" to ask the Council to enter into the problem because the city has been cooperative in the past.

He suggested the city finance the operation of the buses for one month, the city to be repaid when the problem is resolved; and that gas and oil for the buses could be purchased through the city at a saving. Should the problem not be solved by the end of the month the cost to the city would not be recovered.

Mayor Cecil Chase said that he had two questions: 1—Would such a payment by the city be legal? and 2—What funds would the city take for financing the school bus operation?

"I am not opposed," said Mayor Chase. "But I must question the legality. I must ask that as a representative of the people."

On the question of the law, he also noted that parents who refuse to send their children to school are in violation of the law.

Up To Board? Councilman Edward J. Cox said that since the Area School Board is to meet on Tuesday, apparently to make a decision on the problem, and since the Board members are the elected representatives of the people of the Area School District, "I move that we table this matter until we see what the Board will do."

Councilman H. George Nelson added that he also is concerned with the question of legality of the city expending funds for the operation of school buses and noted that the same question of legality had arisen when when it was proposed that the city spend money for an Area High School swimming pool.

"I move we table this," Cox repeated. "It is up to the School Board to settle it in its own way. It is their problem. I feel we would be overstepping ourselves to interfere before their meeting. We could harm the situation if we act before Tuesday."

Industrial Aid

Vanlerberghe repeated that his proposal had been without criticism and was offered in a spirit of helpfulness. The vote was unanimously to table the plan.

In other business, Mayor Chase welcomed to the meeting Jean-Pierre Donot of France and Julio Kohlberg of Bolivia, two students who are in Escanaba as guests of the Rotary Club. Donot is soon to return to France and Kohlberg will enroll at Northern Michigan University.

The Council after discussion of the problem of rail transportation for American Timber Homes at the Chemical Location should the E&LS Railroad halt service, will address a letter to the Escanaba Foundation asking its cooperation in the difficulty, and advising John Walbridge of American Timber Homes of the city's interest in seeing the problem solved.

City Manager George Harvey advised the Council that as soon as the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce's new board of directors has been elected, there will be a request for a joint meeting with the Chamber, the Escanaba Foundation and the Council relative to industrial development.

Dog Problem

John Kirkpatrick appeared before the Council to request that something be done to provide the services of a dog warden and control the growing number of dogs roaming the city.

Mayor Chase said that he, as a member of the County Board of Supervisors personnel committee, was aware of the situation in which four men have been on the job and quit as county dog wardens since the first of the year.

"This is a county problem, not that of the city or the city police," said Mayor Chase, with assurance that the county committee is to meet soon to hire a dog warden.

The Council in other business authorized the Escanaba Housing Commission to make application to the Department of Housing and Urban Development for a grant of $20,000 to conduct a survey and make plans for senior citizen housing development. There would be no cost to the city in the program and local banks would cooperate in financing 50 low-income housing units in various parts of the city.

Matter Of Policy: UPCAP Sessions Opened To Press

By W. H. TRELOAR
Of Panax Newspapers
IRONWOOD — Sessions of UPCAP (Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Problems) will never again be closed to the press.

Following a mild "situation" when the press was barred from a session of the delegate body, he incident was discussed at the general session and the opinion expressed was 10 per cent against barring the press and, to make it official, a motion was presented that never again would meetings of UPCAP bar the news media.

Harold Vanlerberghe, Escanaba, opened the discussion after President Harold Dettman reported to the meeting the business of the closed session. Vanlerberghe said he was sorry the press had been barred and hoped "we would never have anything, and more importantly, we would never do anything, we felt the press should not hear. We need the news media. Without it we are dead. I come from Escanaba and the newspaper, radio and TV people have cooperated 100 per cent with our city council and our chamber of commerce. I am sure the same can be said for other communities."

Victor Kral, Iron Mountain, indicating the closed session could have been held to minimize any possible dissent, said, "We should expect some dissent. It would be bad if there were none. Dissent is part of our way of living. The newspapers have always placed dissent in the proper relationship to the discussion involved, in anything I've been concerned with. We should not be afraid to let people know we occasionally have dissent and yet can reach mutual decisions."

Alex Goldade, Chippewa County, offered a motion on behalf of county delegates, which was then amended to include all delegates, that as a matter of UPCAP policy, all sessions of the group's meetings would be open to news media.

During the morning session recess it was decided by the officers to hold a closed session on program evaluation, in the fear there might be some strong dissent which they did not want emphasized. The first notice was Dettman's announcement, at the luncheon table, that all would be excused for 15 minutes except delegates.

When it was made clear this included the press, a protest was made by W. H. Treloar, representing the Panax newspapers. Overruled by the chairman, Treloar carried his protest to several delegates. They were not in position to change the ruling then, but the discussion in general session and the motion to keep all sessions open followed.

Incidentally, at the closed session, the delegates agreed they were satisfied with procedure in handling program evaluation but asked they have better communication with staff on human resources projects.

Champion Man Sent To Prison For Murder

MARQUETTE — Leon M. DeLongchamp, 29, who was found guilty of the murder of a pregnant mother of two children, was sentenced to 25 to 50 years in prison.

DeLongchamp was found guilty last month of second degree murder in the death of Mrs. Ann Marie LaCrosse, 23, rural Champion.

Mrs. LaCrosse's partly nude body was found Feb. 27 in a snowbank along a rural road, 17 miles from her farm home in western Marquette county. She died of exposure, according to Dr. R. L. Carefoot, Marquette county coroner.

Her head had what authorities described as "relatively minor" injuries, apparently inflicted by a club.

Under Michigan law, DeLongchamp would be eligible for parole in 12 years.

Senate Hearing On Log Industry Scheduled Here

A Senate hearing on workmen's compensation rates involving the Michigan logging industry will be held in the Chamber of Commerce meeting room in Escanaba on Wednesday, Sept. 11, at 1:30 p.m. Sen. Oscar E. Bouwsma (R-Muskegon) said today.

Sen. Bouwsma is Chairman of the Senate Labor Committee.

"Michigan's logging industry faces an extremely competitive market with nearby states, largely because of the high cost of workmen's compensation insurance in Michigan compared with other states," said Bouwsma.

"Despite sharp reductions in the number of logging accidents in the Upper Peninsula since 1965, insurance rates have risen drastically — primarily because of what appear to be excessively high awards for accidents," he continued.

"Testimony has shown that the insurance rate for Michigan loggers is $27.24 per $100 of payroll. Of that amount, only $16.52 goes to the injured workmen while $10.72 goes for administrative costs — which appears to be extremely high."

Sen. Bouwsma said that there is a strong feeling in the legislature that something must be done to lower these costs to make Michigan's logging industry better able to compete with other states.

"We hope the hearing in Escanaba will provide some of the answers for this serious problem," he said.

A senate resolution introduced by Sen. Thomas F. Schweigert (R-Petoskey), President Pro Tem of the Senate, authorized the senate labor committee to hold hearings on the problem. Schweigert is expected to attend the Escanaba hearing.

Thomas Roumell, director of the Michigan Department of Labor, said that although emphasis at the hearing will be placed on compensation problems of the forest and logging industry, all interested persons are welcome to attend and to present their views or to recommend changes in the existing law.

Area School Deficit Explained As Bus Protest Continues

A committee of rural parents formed to urge Board of Education action to resume operation of school buses in the Escanaba Area school district questioned the district's financial status Thursday night as details of a school district audit were revealed.

"The main thing is to get the buses running again," said David Friets, Bay View, who along with Charles Dean will head the committee.

"But we also feel the Board of Education has been misinformed and there is not the great deficit which has been reported."

Friets cited the report of Schneider, Larche & Haapala, certified public accountants of Escanaba, which listed a deficit figure for 1967-68 operations of the Escanaba Area school district as $6,580, compared with the earlier $90,000 school district estimate.

"This $6,500 figure is what the Board of Education should be basing its program on," he said.

Report Explained

The audit report listed assets of $269,002.24 as of June 30, 1968, compared with liabilities of $275,583.21. Including in the listing of assets, however, is $57,844.84 in accounts receivable from delinquent taxes. Coupling the delinquent tax figure with the deficit listed, the district has an actual dollar shortage of $64,425.81.

"There has been much discussion of the deficit of the Escanaba Area Public Schools for the past year," said Supt. of Schools Luther M. Barrett. "The anticipated deficit figure was $90,000. This figure was based upon the anticipated expenditures for the school year as well as the anticipated receipts. It was a budget figure."

"As the school year (1967-68) progressed, certain budget items were overspent to some extent while other items were underspent," Barrett continued. "Efforts were made throughout the year to underspend the budget so that the deficit would be as small as possible."

Deficit Not Known

"The actual and exact deficit for the year cannot be known until the books are closed for the year on June 30. It is not until that time that all accounts for the year are paid. It is not until that time that the exact income figures are known with respect to state aid payments and adjustments, what the total tax collections are — particularly with respect to delinquent collections — what the total revenue is for collections of book rentals, building rentals and the like.

"In summary," Barrett pointed out, "The final credit or deficit figure for any school year cannot be known exactly until the fiscal year ends and accounts are audited."

"The books of this school district, all school districts, are audited each year by certified public accountants," he continued. "This is required by law, and the auditing must be done according to procedures established by the State for public school accounting."

"Upon completion of the audit of last year's accounts, after final totals were in and all assignments of expenses and income were made, the actual deficit was $64,425.81."

"This reduction of some $25,000 from the anticipated figure of $90,000 was the result of economies which were practiced throughout the school year and of variations in income figures," Barrett said.

Show Dollar Deficit

"The final audit report shows a fund balance deficit of $6,580.97. This figure is obtained by subtracting $57,844.84 in delinquent taxes from the dollar deficit figure of $64,425.81."

"Delinquent taxes are considered an asset of the school district, therefore cannot be counted as part of the fund deficit as defined in the state system of accrual accounting," the superintendent explained.

"However, this amount is an unconverted asset, those funds not being available in a dollar amount, so they become a part of the dollar deficit. Delinquent taxes become a part of the income for the following year, are converted into dollars available for school operation the following year, and become a part of the anticipated income for that year," he said.

Ralph Kazianek, a member of the Board of Education, further explained that although the delinquent taxes are listed as an asset, the school board could not spend that money unless it borrowed it.

It was also pointed out that regardless of what the 1967-68 deficit was, before cutbacks were instituted the 1968-69 revenue would run over $200,000 short of what expected expenses would total.

To Attend Meeting

Friets, who was one of some 50 or 60 rural parents who met last night at Mosier Hall, said the committee is not "condemning the Board of Education" for its budget problems, but hopes to work in an "orderly manner" to get the school buses running again.

Friets said the committee, which includes representation for all parts of the rural areas, including areas of Cornell, Danforth, Soo Hill, Wells, Groos, Ford River and Bay View locations, plans to carry an orderly appeal to the Board of Education at its scheduled meeting at 8 p. m. Tuesday.

Members of the committee are: Margaret Hughes, Groos; David Friets, Bay View location; Ralph Rose, Cornell; John Blanchette, Danforth; Gary Peterson, Ford River; Charles

The committee feels, Friets said, that the rural areas are being discriminated against through the elimination of the bus program and also hot lunch.

"If the Board of Education doesn't have the money, they shouldn't have opened the schools at all," he said. "Then the problem isn't a rural problem, it's one for the entire community."

Promised Buses

"You can't run a school system with no children in it," he emphasized. "When we consolidated the township areas were promised bus transportation and as far as I'm concerned I'm holding out forever unless the buses come back."

Friets said all of the children of the district "should have an equal opportunity" to get to classes and that when the buses don't run in the rural areas those children don't have it.

In making its decision to cutback on transportation, the Board of Education favored continuance of as much of its actual educational program as possible at the expense, if need be, of the auxiliary services such as busing.

The committee, however, questioned the advisability of continuing programs such as music, for example, when rural children can't even get to school for "the three R's."

Feeling of the Board of Education was that music and athletics are part of the total school program which should not be eliminated, if spending reductions could be made in other areas.

The bus program was just one of many spending reductions approved for the 1968-69 school year. Other cutbacks included not hiring seven teachers needed to meet enrollment increases, reductions in spending for supplies, teacher conference expense, secretarial and janitorial cutbacks, and capitol outlay costs for equipment and supplies, etc.

Boycott Continues

Meanwhile, the boycott of Escanaba Area schools continued Thursday, although somewhat to a lesser degree than earlier in the week.

School officials reported that 4,318 children were in class Thursday, compared with 4,298 on Wednesday and 3,776 on Tuesday. Tuesday's figure did not include kindergarten children, who did not begin class until Wednesday.

Anticipated enrollment this fall was about 4,600 students in all grades.

In another related matter, the school administration squelched a report that students held out of classes by parents will not be able to make up missed assignments.

The school administration said that students will be allowed to make up work missed without penalty.

Philadelphia Pact Averts Strike By 12,500 Teachers

A threatened teachers' strike in Philadelphia has been averted but hundreds of teachers elsewhere in the nation continue walkouts that have delayed the opening of the fall term.

Any hopes for an extended vacation among 290,000 Philadelphia school children were dashed Thursday when the city put together a $27.6 million wage package to avert a strike by the 12,500 teachers.

Under the new two-year pact, salaries go up $1,800 to give beginning teachers $8,700 at the start and pushing the top wage to $13,200. The fall term opens today.

Squabbling Stalls Food For Biafra

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — The Red Cross stepped up its night food flights to Biafra Thursday night as squabbling between the Nigerian and Biafran governments continued to delay the start of a daytime foodlift.

The International Red Cross Committee in Geneva said six planes landed 43 tons of food and medicine and 33 relief and medical workers during the night. A spokesman said the number of flights is likely to be increased in the next few nights.

August Lindt, International Red Cross coordinator for West Africa, was in Biafra Thursday trying to persuade the secessionist leaders to accept Nigeria's condition for not interfering with the plane loads of food and medicine and that they land at a Biafran air strip called Annabelle.

Nigeria Firm

Diplomatic sources said Lindt might return to Lagos if the two sides in the 14-month-old civil war continued to disagree on a landing site.

"We will not change our stand," a Nigerian military spokesman said.

The Nigerians had threatened to shoot down all planes flying into Biafra, contending that they might be carrying arms to the rebels. But they agreed not to interfere for 10 days, starting Thursday, with Red Cross mercy flights going to Annabelle.

Biafra welcomed the agreement but broadcast a proposal Thursday that the mercy planes land instead at Obilago airstrip, in central Biafra.

Supplies Stockpiled

The Nigerians claim Biafra wants Annabelle left free for planes bringing arms. They reject Obilago as a landing spot because neutralization of that air strip would block the advance of federal troops on the headquarters of Biafra's chief of state, Lt. Col. C. Odumegwu Ojukwu, at Umuahia, 25 miles from the airstrip.

More than 3,500 tons of relief supplies for Biafra are stockpiled at Fernando Poo, a Spanish island off the east Nigerian coast, and the Red Cross and other welfare organizations have made night flights into Biafra despite the Lagos blockade. But they have not been able to carry nearly enough to meet the needs of the Biafrans, thousands of whom are reported dying each day from starvation.

Biafra meanwhile acknowledged that federal forces had broken through the defenses of Aba.

Need Not Pay For Unordered Goods, Chamber Reports

The Escanaba Chamber of Commerce said today the practice of sending unordered merchandise to prospective buyers continues to flourish and advised consumers that they are not obliged to return or pay for goods they didn't order and don't want.

Walter G. Lewke, manager of the local Chamber, said the rights and obligations of consumers with regard to unordered merchandise are spelled out in a recent policy statement issued by the Federal Trade Commission.

According to the National Better Business Bureau, with which the local Chamber is affiliated, the FTC, in its statement, said the recipient of unordered merchandise has no obligation to return or pay for it, unless he uses the merchandise or wishes to purchase it.

NBBB has consistently condemned the practice, pointing out that recipients of unordered goods are not obliged to use their homes as storage depots. Unless the merchandise is called for by the shipper within a reasonable time, NBBB has maintained the recipient may dispose of it without penalty.

Chicago & North Western iron ore shipments from Escanaba have topped the 4,000,000 ton mark, nearly 400,000 tons ahead of the same date a year ago, it is reported by the Iron Ore Association.

August shipments from Escanaba totaled 531,887 tons, down from the record 828,995 tons handled by the North Western in August a year ago — but the year-to-date total is still ahead of last year.

To Sept. 1 the total iron ore loaded at Escanaba was 4,033,096 compared to 3,735,317 tons for the same period a year ago.

At Marquette, a total of 857,000 tons was shipped from two docks in August, bringing the season total to Sept. 1 to 4,712,686 tons — a slight decline from the year before.

The volume of pelletized ore handled at Escanaba continues to increase. Last year it was slightly above 50 per cent of the total ore shipped and this year the percentage is expected to go higher.

Presently the North Western has under way a new ore facility development, including a conveyor type dock better adapted to handling pellet ore. The removal of the old timber dock is to start soon.

Friend Of Schools

The Press has, of course, been getting a lot of requests to "do something" to get the Escanaba Area School District buses running again. We worked with our full earnestness and vigor to try to convince the district, by process of information in the news, and by process of counsel in the editorial column, that it should vote the millage for school operations.

Our reasoning was anchored in concern for the children who need the schools although we are mindful that increasing taxes work a general hardship and that they work a specific hardship of considerable severity for some people. But we believe, too, that this is generally exaggerated and that people have accepted increases in costs in almost every item of their living and then turned about and said to the schools: "Not one more dime!"

Our inquiries among our friends in the townships reveal an increasing anger there over the bus situation.

At Cornell, at Wells, at Ford River we're told, people are saying "You put those buses back or we'll never vote any millage!"

There are casual suggestions that if the buses are restored the townships will be willing to vote enough millage for their operation. This, of course, would be very shortsighted, because schools are not operated to provide jobs for bus drivers nor rides for children, but to instruct our young and if we give a financial priority to transportation over instruction we provide a funeral of sorts for schooling; after the ride there's only a cemetery.

The current contest is one of the most important of the decade in our community. It tests our sense of values. Instead of joining an angry group that's going to get the buses back — or else — we should all be examining our conscience, our sense of economics and our educational responsibilities to the youth of the Escanaba Area.

It is a need of democracy here that, with no buses to take children to school from distant places, there must be effort to restore bus service. Angry demands don't help the Board of Education solve the problem and indicate that we still don't seek a solution.

We have met no one who thinks that the buses shouldn't run. In a consolidated system like ours, they're imperative.

So we're going to have bus service because we really can't operate effectively without it. But it costs money to operate buses and the state only subsidizes the service to the extent of about 60 per cent. The local district has got to pick up the tab for 40 per cent or about $70,000.

How shall it be raised? There have been some weird suggestions, but practically there's only one way that we know of and that's to vote millage. That or run a deficit which is both illegal and ineffective because it must be paid eventually. And there's already a sizeable deficit from last year's school operation.

The situation is so serious, as we view it, that we'd like to see both sides suggest an immediate program for renewal of busing. The school board has the very practical problem of paying for the service if it orders the buses out of the barn, and the parents of school kids don't have this problem. But unless they share it there will be no solution. The lack of cooperation brought us to this crisis in the first place.

The situation shows the need for really good schooling and it also shows the lack of it. Township officials have aggravated the condition, but it has also had a chronic core of opposition in the city.

Some of our best leaders got us to create a consolidated school district so that the city and the suburban areas could pool resources for the creation of a better school program in a situation where a little school can never be a really good school.

At present the district plan is improperly unpopular in both the city and the townships. The city thinks its school program has been watered down to enrich the townships; the townships wish they hadn't joined so they'd still be autonomous and masters of their own millage. Both positions are false, but they exist.

Actually, of course, both the city and the townships are greatly benefited by the area school district and its program and its potential is much greater than its performance so far.

We are being tested and we are flunking the test. Good will can help speed the solution. It will come with sharing of the burden that up to now we've left with the school board, that unpaid, abused group of elected officials who must by now be wondering when someone is going to help them instead of threaten them.

Letters To The Press

EDUCATIONAL CONFLICT

It is back to school this week for most of the nation's youth. Although the youth doesn't realize it, most adults and assuredly those of us in the business know education has become and will continue to be one of the most controversial aspects of the current social scene.

One year ago the controversy was here in Manistique. Board meetings were held in the auditorium. This year it is Escanaba and Kingsford with possibility of similar conflicts in Menominee, St. Ignace and DeTour. The big question is money.

The majority of people who voted in elections in these districts have said, "We don't want to pay more taxes." Boards of education have then had to say, "All right, but we cannot provide the same service." Then comes the hassle.

People who vote no may not be affected by cutbacks in lunches, transportation, athletics or any others which might be proposed.

The problem goes beyond local financing. If a child lives in Highland Park he will have $200 more spent on his education than if he lives in Detroit. The two school districts are divided by the main north-south expressway. And still Detroit's $600 expenditure per pupil and Highland Park's $800 is more than is spent in most districts which are divided by a bridge and lie north of the Straits of Mackinac.

The controversy does not stop with public schools. Bills were introduced into the legislature last year to provide financial aid to non-public schools. Hearings regarding this are being held. The one in Escanaba was Aug. 27. Now here's real hot educational controversy shaping up.

Public Act 379 — the one which gave public employees the right to organize and bargain for wages, hours and conditions of employment turned the whole board of education — employee relationships into an adversary situation. With adversaries come conflict and with conflict comes controversy.

Complex racial issues add another dimension to the educational conflict. Do you mix them up? Do you bus Negro kids to all white schools and white kids to inner city schools, or do you spend more money in the inner city and how does a district get teachers for these tougher jobs and what do you do when you run out of white kids in a busing situation? We do not have to face this controversy here, but many boards of education in Michigan do.

Experienced board members have said, "We don't want any more controversy," and they refuse to run. The total board experience of the present members in Escanaba is approximately three years.

Superintendents are saying the same thing. Many will not be in their jobs in a few years from now. Jay Plyman, former superintendent of Grand Rapids took a $10,000 salary cut to change jobs. The Grand Rapids Press reported Plyman as saying, "It troubles me to find myself crisis-hopping most of the time, becoming less and less involved as an educator and more and more enmeshed as a trouble shooter, a politician, a lobbyist, a pacifier and an arbitrator."

Plyman also said, "I have made the decision to reject the role of politician. The superintendent has to be an educator, but times have forced him to be other things."

It's a long, long way from a Dick and Jane primer to state aid formulas, integration and labor mediation, but these items are as much a part of today's educational complex as Palmer Method was in a quieter, less turbulent era.

Edwin Wuehle, Superintendent, Manistique Schools

Back in the days of Whist some unsung player said "When in doubt, lead trumps."

A much better aphorism would be, "When not in doubt, lead trumps."

North's two spade bid was one of those modern cue bids that may or may not show first round control of the suit, depending on just what the cue bidder holds.

East decided to jam the bidding with a jump to four spades and South was happy to be able to pass. He had a minimum opening bid and his partner had passed as dealer.

North's jump to six clubs was unsound. He had no reason to expect that a slam could be made but his partner could have the right cards. However, North did not like the way that East had jammed the bidding and decided that his jump to six clubs might well get East and West to go to six spades. North was sure that his side would show a profit against that contract.

East and West refused the bait. They both passed and it was up to West to lead.

West was in doubt. He hated to lay down the ace of spades. It might just set up the king somewhere. He hated to lead from the king of hearts and he was not intrigued with his diamond doubleton. Finally he led a trump!

South drew trumps, discarded his three hearts on dummy's diamonds and conceded a spade trick.

We sympathize with East and are sorry for West but we do not approve of his trump lead. West should have attacked and the ace of spades opening would have been the best way to start. After that lead West would surely have found the shift to hearts and South would have been down two tricks.

Ann Landers

'Ashes On Floor May Be Your Own'

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you accepted a suggestion from a well-meaning reader who came up with a safe way to smoke in bed. The woman said if a person trains himself to hold the cigarette between the middle and fourth fingers, the cigarette cannot drop out of his hand if he should fall asleep. "He will be awakened when the cigarette burns down to his fingers," she added.

As chairman of the Emergency Rescue and First Aid Committee of the New York Firemen's Association, I hope you will retract that statement and tell your readers there is no safe way to smoke in bed.

Bed-smokers run two risks. One is asphyxiation, the other is fire. The so-called "safe" way might awaken the smoker before he becomes roasted alive, but it would not prevent him from becoming asphyxiated by the smoldering of a wool blanket or a foam rubber mattress.

Please take the word of a fireman who has carried out too many corpses.—R.E.G.

Dear R. E. G.: It was dumb of me to have printed that woman's letter and I hereby accept 10 lashes with the old wet noodle. The correct advice is as follows: Do NOT smoke in bed. The ashes on the floor might be your own.

Dear Ann Landers: Wilma and I went together for three years. I thought for sure we would be married. When she told me she had another guy she liked better I was shocked and hurt. But I wished her luck, told her to keep my ring and to forget about $600 she owed me. Wilma and the guy took off for California and I was under the impression they were married but I was wrong.

Six months later she came back to town—five months pregnant. Her boy friend had run out on her. She was broke and sick and hungry for a square meal. I told Wilma I still loved her and asked her to marry me. We have been married two years and I never once mentioned the fact that the baby wasn't mine. I thought we were getting along fine, until two months ago when Wilma asked me to send her to California to visit her folks. They had never seen the baby. I worked on the car for two days getting it ready for the 200-mile trip to the airport.

Last week I got a letter from her saying she and the baby were not coming back. She said she has a job out there but I have a hunch she has teamed up again with the guy who got her pregnant. What do you think?—ANONYMOUS

Dear Anon: Your story is a heart breaker, but I think you'll be lucky in the long run if Wilma stays in California.

Dear Ann Landers: My penmanship is absolutely terrible and I am ashamed of it. I have tried my darndest to improve but I am a hopeless case.

A few weeks ago my father passed away and I had to acknowledge many bouquets and telegrams. I typed the thank you notes on my personal stationery and signed my name in ink. It came back to me that I was "a jerky dame who had no manners" because the notes should have been handwritten. I wish I could have done the notes by hand but no one would have been able to read them. Am I "a jerky dame?"—THE SCRAWLER

Dear S: Better to send a typewritten note than a handwritten note that is illegible. As a person who has seen a great deal of illegible handwriting, I'm with you.

What awaits you on the other side of the marriage veil? How can you be sure your marriage will work? Read Ann Landers' booklet "Marriage—What to Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Request Rejected:City Residence Rule Unchanged

A request by Escanaba city employees to change a policy rule requiring that they reside within the City of Escanaba was unchanged after discussion by the Council Thursday night.

The employees sought to have the rule changed to permit employees to reside within five driving miles of the city. The Civil Service Commission had referred the matter to the Council for decision.

City Manager George Harvey noted that the rule has been in also ratified was an agreement with the firemen making certain adjustments in wages and working conditions. Cost of the adjustment will increase the wage cost to the city by $10,900.

There are 27 firemen. Firefighters will get a $200 annual wage adjustment, lieutenants $300 and fire captains $500. The city manager reported that in arriving at the adjustment the firemen agreed to changes sought by the administration. The agreement becomes effective Sept. 16.

The Council set the date of Sept. 16 also for the hearing of objections to improvements as follows: Sanitary sewer from 14th Ave. N. to the C&NW right of way on N. 26th St.; water main assessment on N. 26th St. from 14th Ave. N. to the new Danforth Road.

Tax Deadline

The deadline for the payment of Escanaba city taxes was postponed by the City Council from Sept. 10 to Oct. 15 in action Thursday night. The postponement applies solely to city taxes.

effect since the early 1950's and has been adhered to despite the city's need to recruit employees — particularly firemen and policemen — from a larger territory, even outside the state in one instance.

"I believe the ruling should stay as it is," said Councilman Edward J. Cox. So far as possible Escanaba city jobs should go to Escanaba people," he added.

Councilman Bink raised the question of residence policy as it might apply to department heads: A city manager who might reside in Gladstone, or department heads in other communities, if the policy were changed to permit non-residence of employees.

Statewide and nationally, the majority of cities require within city residence, Harvey reported.

A change in vacation policy was ratified by the Council; and

Change Of Mind On Transplants

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A medical professor who opposed heart transplant operations last spring says their success has convinced him that he was wrong.

"Transplantation is here," said Dr. Elliot Corday of the University of California at Los Angeles. He is a past president of the American College of Cardiology.

In a debate last spring with Dr. Christiaan Barnard of Cape Town, South Africa, Corday urged a moratorium on heart transplants.

His original objection was based on the lack of a drug or other method for preventing rejection of the transplanted organ. Corday said Thursday. Now, he says, this is being solved with introduction of anti-lymphocyte globulin.

Chemical Firms Agree To Assist In DDT Research

By BOB VOGES

CADILLAC (AP) — Representatives of major chemical firms defended the sale and use of DDT before the State Thursday.

They agreed, however, to cooperate in research on the effects of the chemical on the environment, particularly as to where it might harm fish and wildlife.

The Conservation Department has been concerned because some of the Coho salmon hatched from fish planted in the Great Lakes die in state hatcheries. Overdoses of DDT draining into the lakes have been blamed for the fish kill.

The commission also heard a report from Consumers Power Co. on how it is cooperating with the Conservation Department ment by allowing use of its land for recreation purposes.

Misuse Admitted

A major point was an explanation of how the utility is trying to assure there will be no pollution of the air or water from its nuclear power plants. Dan Keating, representing the agricultural chemical division of Stauffer Chemical Co., New York, told the commission: "I think we have more in common than separates us."

Keating said it would be foolish to claim there is no accidental misuse of DDT or other chemical products.

But it would be just as unwise to outlaw DDT, he said, "as it would be to outlaw automobiles because they have a potential for killing wildlife or people, or banning aspirin because it is the most common cause of accidental poisoning of children."

Work Out Problems

Pesticides, he said, are essential to agriculture.

Meanwhile, he pledged that chemical industry scientists will get together with conservation experts to work out their mutual problems.

Samuel Rotrosen, general manager of Montrose Chemical Co. of California, the nation's largest manufacturer of DDT, said that DDT plays an important role in eliminating disease and insects and increasing the production of food and fiber.

"Why not eliminate DDT and use some chemical alternate that is not so persistent?" asked commissioner Carl Johnson of Grand Rapids.

Rotrosen replied that most of the other chemical substitutes are three times as expensive. DDT is used extensively by municipalities to control Dutch elm disease and for other purposes "and we can't say they must use this or that chemical," he replied.

Meanwhile, he said, a national committee of prominent scientists has been appointed to study the entire problem by the federal Food and Drug Administration.

Shipman Reveals Plans For New District Court

Attorney Dean J. Shipman of Escanaba, Delta County candidate for District Judge, revealed a comprehensive plan for implementing the new powers of the district court in an address to the Escanaba Exchange Club Tuesday.

Shipman dealt at length with the serious issues of the structure and jurisdiction of the court.

Plan Detailed

"Subject to the approval of the new County Board Supervisors, I recommend that serious consideration be given to the establishment of a Model Court Probation Department," Shipman said.

"This probation program will have five major points. (1) Establish new respect for law and order. (2) Handling the rehabilitation of the youthful offender. (3) Establishment of liaison with medical and AA representatives for the alcoholic. (4) Adjudicated probation type sentencing for worthy first offenders to prevent unwarranted criminal records. (5) A volunteer work program to allow adult wage earning offenders to retain their jobs but serve out their sentence time in useful work for the community on weekends."

This plan is modeled on successful programs carried out in other communities, he said. It looks to community support through service clubs, church groups and educational institutions for staffing and guidance. The dollar cost to the community is small. The biggest part of the expense of the program is given by volunteer workers under the direct supervision of the District Court Judge.

Shipman explained that the attorney who is elected to this job must leave his practice of law.

"After many years in my practice here in Delta County, this will be difficult. However, this job is a fulltime job," he said. "It demands, both by law and duty, the complete attention of the Judge. The job will require a qualified trial lawyer who knows Michigan Law and his community."

Small Claims

The Exchange Club expressed interest in Shipman's explanation of the Small Claims Division of the new District Court.

Under the Judge's supervision, citizens are able to try their own civil law suits. No attorneys are permitted if both parties agree. The jurisdiction of this division is $300. No jury is allowed. The case is tried to the judge and his decision is final. Shipman pointed out that this is a serious responsibility for the man elected Judge of this Court.

Exchange Club members asked several questions concerning the control of the District Court.

It was pointed out that no plan can be firm up for the running of this Court until the new 5-man County Board is elected. They will compose the District Control Unit for the purposes of financing and set-up of the new Court plan.

Shipman indicated that there has been some informal discussion concerning locating the Court in the Delta County Courthouse. No decisions have been or will be reached until after the new Board is elected.

Drive A Success

Exchange Club members were told that to date the Rag Drive had been successful. A commitment was made for supplying dental supplies to the Delta County Dental Care Unit through Dr. Mary Cretens of the Health Department.

Members were advised that donations of saleable objects were being solicited for the Exchange Club auction planned for the Fairgrounds on Oct. 5 and 6. Any parties desiring to donate are asked to contact President Bob Abb or Lou Weiland.

How to save your wife and over $140.00 with a new Gas dryer.

If your wife is drying clothes on a line, she's working for less than 2¢ a load. That's all it costs to do it in a Gas dryer. And that's the thriftiest, easiest way in the world. It's 1/5 the cost of the next best way — with electricity. So when you consider the number of loads done by the average family each year, they could save over $28.00 a year with Gas. In just 5 years that comes to $140—the purchase price of a new Gas dryer.

When you look at it that way, a Gas dryer becomes an investment instead of an expenditure. It's a purchase that requires little or no maintenance. The average upkeep is less than 20¢ a year (or the money that can be saved on a few loads). And since installation is free, you can save right from the start.

In addition to the savings, a Gas dryer makes clothes feel fresh, soft and new—rain or shine. All your permanent-press things come out as smooth and fresh as the day you bought them.

And because a load is done up to 10 minutes faster with Gas, more loads can be done in a day, too. No wonder . . . Gas makes the big difference . . . costs less, too.

See the latest models at your Gas appliance dealer. 7 out of 10 families now using dryers have Gas dryers. Care to make it 8?

Isn't it time you bought her a new Gas dryer?

Fishing Rules Are Liberalized

CADILLAC (AP)—A streamlined set of new fishing regulations, aimed at more uniformity, was approved Thursday by the State Conservation Commission.

Most of the changes are more liberal. Some others are restrictive.

One major change would make catch and keep quotas in all waters for trout and salmon the same.

Five fish would be allowed, singly or combined. An extra bonus would allow five additional brook trout from streams.

Other changes for the 1969 fishing season include:—Elimination of the closed fishing season on trout and salmon in the Great Lakes.

—Extension of the regular inland trout season through September rather than closing it the first Sunday after Labor Day.

—Extension of the special season on salmon and steelhead trout in certain designated streams to the end of December.

—A uniform season on muskellunge, northern pike, wall-eye and saugers running from May 15 through the end of February. As an exception, the muskie season in Lake St. Clair would run from the first Saturday in June through Dec. 15.

Creel and limit changes include:—Reduction of the limit on muskie to one daily and in possession in all waters.

—Standardization of the creel and possession limits on northern pike, walleyes, saugers and black bass to five, singly or combined. The white bass limit will be 10.

—A uniform 10-inch size limit on trout and salmon in inland waters with the exception of brook trout, left at seven inches.

—Extension of the present 10-inch size limit on trout in Great Lakes to also cover salmon in these waters.

—A ban on the spearing of muskellunge and lake trout.

Hart Will Make New Effort For Bear Dune Park

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., says that he will reintroduce next year if necessary a bill to establish a Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore in Western Michigan.

Proposals for the lakeshore have been before Congress for years.

The Senate has passed authorizing bills twice in previous years but no Senate hearings have been held on the proposal in the current Congress, which expires at the end of this year.

The House Interior Committee held hearings on the proposal earlier this year but has taken no action. Chairman Wayne N. Aspinall, D-Colo., says he has no idea when the committee will consider it as the committee now has a full agenda.

Hart indicated that if the House should pass the bill, quick action could be had in the Senate committee.

The Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission has appealed for passage of the authorizing legislation this year.

Hart's comments came at a news conference at which he also said he will seek to obtain an $8 million increase in funding for clinical research by the National Institutes of Health.

—Declined to predict whether the Senate will confirm President Johnson's nominations of Abe Fortas to be chief justice and Homer Thornberry to be an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

'68 Second Best For Auto Makers

DETROIT (AP) — The two top executives of General Motors Corp. said Thursday that 1968 model year retail car and truck sales were the second highest in auto industry history and that 1969 sales "could reach 11 million units."

James M. Roche, chairman of the world's largest corporation, and GM President Edward N. Cole, issued the statement as 1969 models began to roll off the nation's assembly lines.

They said the 1968 model year car and truck sales for the industry totaled about 10.7 million "second highest in the history of the automobile industry in the United States and close to the sales record of 10.8 million vehicles established in 1966."

Traverse Reaps Tourist Wealth

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Grand Traverse County led Northern Michigan in tourist dollars spent during the past year by vacationers, according to a report from the Upper Great Lakes Development Commission. In the report covering 15 northern Michigan counties, tourists were said to have spent $5.75 million in Grand Traverse County while Emmet recorded $5.5 million and Antrim and Charlevoix each $4 million.

Others listed were Wexford, $3 million; Leelanau, Menistee and Mason, $2 million, and Benzie, $1 million.

Use Caulking Gun To Close Joints Around Your Home

By MR. FIX

Anyone finding a broken window pane or a hole in the wall would repair it quickly enough. You may have enough open joints and cracks in your home right now that equal the area of a missing pane of glass or a hole in the siding.

The joints around doors and window frames alone might equal an opening even larger than the ones mentioned.

The best and easiest way to seal those joints is with caulking compound. Use a good quality compound, one that will not run because it is too liquidy and yet is pliable enough to fill joints no matter how irregular.

Caulking is a putty-like material. When dry it has a plastic consistency. This is why it can expand and contract without cracking.

Properly applied it will prevent moisture from creeping in, block drafts and hold down fuel bills.

The easiest way to apply caulking compound is with a caulking gun. The gun has a barrel that is loaded with caulking. Pressure on the trigger pushes the caulking out through a tip or nozzle that allows it to flow in a bead of the proper size and shape.

While you can buy bulk caulking to load in a caulking gun, even this slight chore has been made easier. Caulking is available in cartridges. The cartridge provides its own barrel and nozzle all loaded with caulking and ready to go. With a cartridge you can use a simpler and cheaper gun. Instead of a full barrel the gun provides a frame to hold the cartridge, plus a trigger and plunger mechanism.

When the cartridge is empty just throw it away. There is no cleaning up to do.

For smaller jobs you can also obtain caulking in tubes which you squeeze like toothpaste.

Caulking is generally available in white or grey. There also is a black caulking for sealing cracks on or around roofs.

Caulking can be done almost any time, except when the temperature drops below 40 degrees. Though you can caulk either before or after painting, it is preferable to do so before painting. This way you can paint over it and the caulking won't show.

Do not, however, attempt to paint over black caulking. This contains asphalt and it will bleed through the paint.

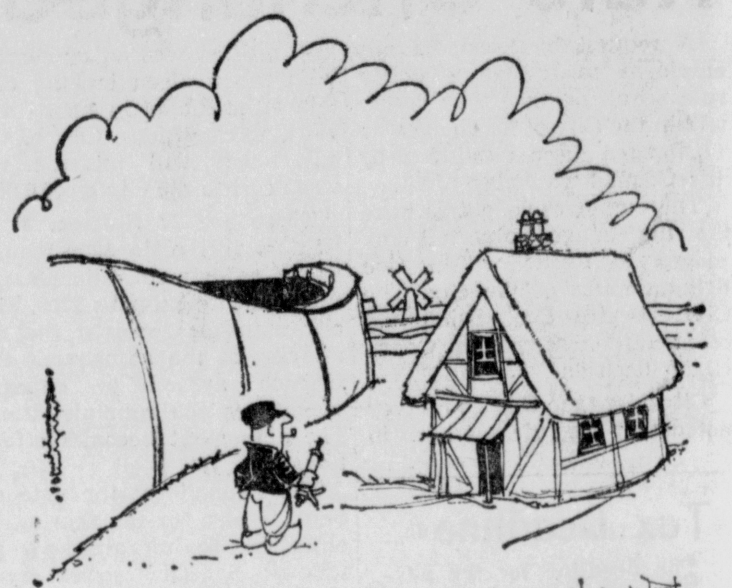

Keep a steady pressure on the trigger. At the same time, move the gun along at a slow and even pace. The even pressure will assure a neat job without gaps and without piling up of the caulking.

Caulk around doors and window frames, above the window where the siding meets the window drip caps, between window sill and siding, at corners formed by siding, between siding and vertical corner boards, between dormers and roof shingles. Any sort of inside corner needs it. Look for cracks and openings at the top of the foundation.

If old caulking is present and in bad condition, scrape it out before applying the new. Clean up particles with a wire brush and if you want to do a thorough job, wash the area with turpentine.

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Lincoln delivered his famous address at ceremonies dedicating the battlefield at Gettysburg, Pa., as a national cemetery on Nov. 19, 1863.

Caulking will prevent moisture from creeping into your home.

64,000 Pupils Still Classless

LANSING (AP) — A suburban Detroit school board cracked the whip on absent teachers Thursday, but today there still were no classes for nearly 64,000 youngsters in 11 districts with teacher contract disputes.

The Riverview Board of Education, which earlier told 40 nontenure teachers to work Thursday or be fired, filed suit in Wayne County Circuit Court asking that all 160 of its teachers be ordered back to the classrooms.

State law prohibits strikes by teachers and other public employees. The probationary and uncertified teachers voted 37-3 to defy the school board's ultimatum.

Meanwhile, tentative agreement was reported Thursday at River Rouge, trimming the holdout districts to 11—seven of them in Wayne County.

Lt. Gov. William Milliken's office said the 64,000 pupils who faced closed classroom doors represented about three per cent of the state's total public school enrollment. The state has 530 districts.

In several other districts, estimated by Milliken's office at about 30, teachers were on the job today without contracts as negotiations continued.

Schools in Houghton County's Adams Township were likely to remain closed for some time, since the dispute there brought LANSING (AP) — Mayor Floyd H. Hyde of Fresno, Calif., and Robben W. Fleming, president of the University of Michigan, will be the keynote speakers at the Michigan Municipal League's annual convention. Over 1,200 persons are expected to attend the Sept. 17-20 convention.

Use For Sludge Ash Examined

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A University of Michigan engineer is running tests in Pontiac to see if the ash taken directly from a sewage sludge incinerator can be used for building foundations or for land filling below grade level.

Professor Donald H. Gray of the U-M Civil Engineering Department said that once properly compacted, the ash has been found to be at least as strong as conventional soils and sometimes stronger. Its strength increases considerably with time, he added.

The compacted hearth ash that is undergoing tests was taken from the Auburn Sewage Treatment Plant in Pontiac.

He said it could help solve the disposal problem created by the incineration of sewage sludge and that it offers a cheap and suitable fill material.

Not only does the ash provide a lightweight backfill, but it also makes a structural fill capable of supporting heavy loads.

Much work must be done, however, before engineers learn whether and how the hearth ash can be safely used for fill purposes, Gray said.

Emphasis On Convenience

BALANCED DESIGN: Despite the difference in volume of both end wings of this split level, the exterior is well balanced because the taller chimney and cupola over the garage.

By ANDY LANG

The most popular elements of the split level are combined here with simplicity of exterior design in a house which should satisfy the needs of American family living.

An easy but effective way of evaluating a house from the practical standpoint is to note those ingredients which will make for convenient day-to-day use. Architect Herman H. York has included many such factors in Design Z-57. Note, for example, that there are only three steps between the ground floor — location of the family room, study and foyer — and the second level — comprising the living room, dining room and kitchen — bringing these "living" sections into close relationship with each other by means of easy movement. The greater change in levels occurs between the second level and the three bedrooms, a path traveled much less frequently.

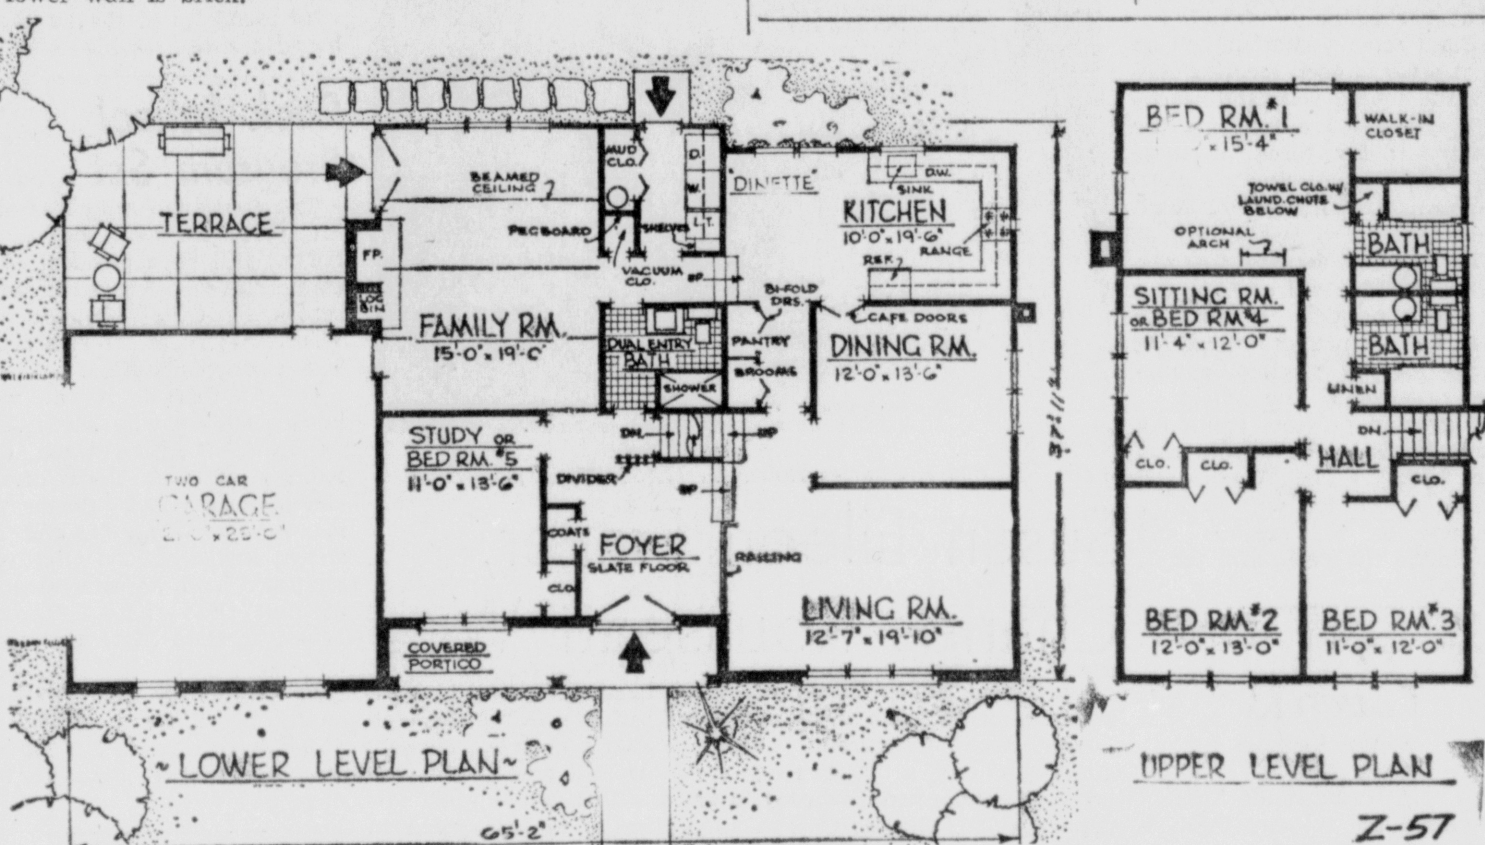

The large foyer, with a slate floor, creates a spacious appearance due to the open railing between it and the adjacent cent living room, which has a maximum amount of wall space for easy arrangement of furniture. A large bathroom has a dual entry. The family room, convenient to the foyer, is within a few steps of the kitchen and, on the opposite side, opens to an outdoor terrace. A beamed ceiling and a brick fireplace highlight the family room. To the left of the foyer is a study. Since it has a closet, it can be used as an extra bedroom if desired.

Also on this level is the service-laundry complex with space for a washer, dryer and laundry tub. There are two closets, one large enough to place a hot water heater in one end, the other suitable for a vacuum cleaner and brooms. Shelves provide space for clean-up materials.

While the dining room is between the living room at the front of the house and the kitchen at the rear a special passageway prevents it from being used for casual traffic. The kitchen 19' 6" long, has the appliance-countertop area in the age offset the higher ridge over the living room. Entire lower wall is brick.

FLOOR PLANS: Rear portion of house is likely to get most attention, with a large kitchen and dinette; a spacious family

August Car Sale Sets New Record

DETROIT (AP)—A season's-end buying surge pushed sales of new cars to a record 635,101 units in August.

The sales by the nation's four major automakers topped by 22 per cent the 517,235 cars sold in August 1967. And they exceeded the record of 610,191, set in August 1965, the firms reported.

Many buyers were reported scampering to auto showrooms to purchase 1968 model cars and beat the anticipated price hikes on the 1969 models, due to be introduced to the public later this month.

All four major auto builders—General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co., Chrysler Corp. and American Motors Corp.—reported increases.

Seek Broadened Daily At U Of M

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A special committee on communications has recommended that the University of Michigan student newspaper provide opportunity for expression of views from all segments of the campus.

The newspaper, The Michigan Daily, was studied by a student-faculty committee appointed a year ago after the publication printed several controversial articles, one of which supported the legalization of marijuana.

In a 25-page report to the university's Faculty Assembly, the committee recommended that the university publish a regular insert in the Daily containing material now published in a variety of campus media. The insert would contain policy announcements or reports from U-M regents and other administrative officers, faculty reports and resolutions.

For Whole Campus

The committee said the campus has four major constituencies—faculty, administration, undergraduate and graduate students. To know the truth about the whole campus, the committee said, it is necessary to know the positions of all four groups.

The proposed insert would be financed by the university, prepared by its own professional editor and publisher under its own masthead.

With publication of the insert, the university would be expected to provide subscription for home delivery of the Daily to all faculty members as well as members of the Student Government Council and the Graduate Assembly.

The committee also proposed that the newspaper publish verbatim reports of policy positions taken by two major student government bodies—the Student Government Council and the Graduate Assembly.

Propose Policy Change

All editorials, it was proposed, should be the result of consultation among the editor, editorial director and associate editorial director and presented as representing the collective position of the newspaper.

Under present policy, editorials are signed by their authors and represent individual opinions.

The committee also urged a change in the process of naming editors.

Appointments currently are made by the Board in Control of Student Publications upon recommendation from the graduating editors.

Pesticide Curb Needed: Panel

LANSING (AP) — Michigan needs more coordinated regulation of potentially harmful toxic pesticides and more control over the people who apply them, a special advisory panel told Gov. George Romney Thursday.

Also recommended by the three-member panel were more pesticide research, better control of small packages of pesticides, and a careful check on the effects toxic accumulations have on the state's new Coho salmon.

It added that checks should be made in areas where pesticides are applied, and said the State Department of Agriculture would be the most competent agency to do it.

The state departments of agriculture and conservation have been at odds over pest-control programs in the past.

The advisory panel, named in April by Romney, called for a reduction in the use of lingering toxic pesticides "to safeguard the quality of our environment."

It said Michigan is already a leader in its move away from use of DDT in control of mosquitoes and Dutch elm disease, but should go further whenever safer alternatives are possible.

On the other hand, the panel's report noted that "pesticides are essential tools to Michigan Agriculture and its associated industries, and to public health."

Panel members were Dr. Gordon E. Guyer, professor of entomology at Michigan State University; Dr. John E. Bardach, professor of fisheries and zoology at the University of Michigan; and Eugene E. Kenaga, Dow Chemical Co. environmental specialist.

Z-57 STATISTICS

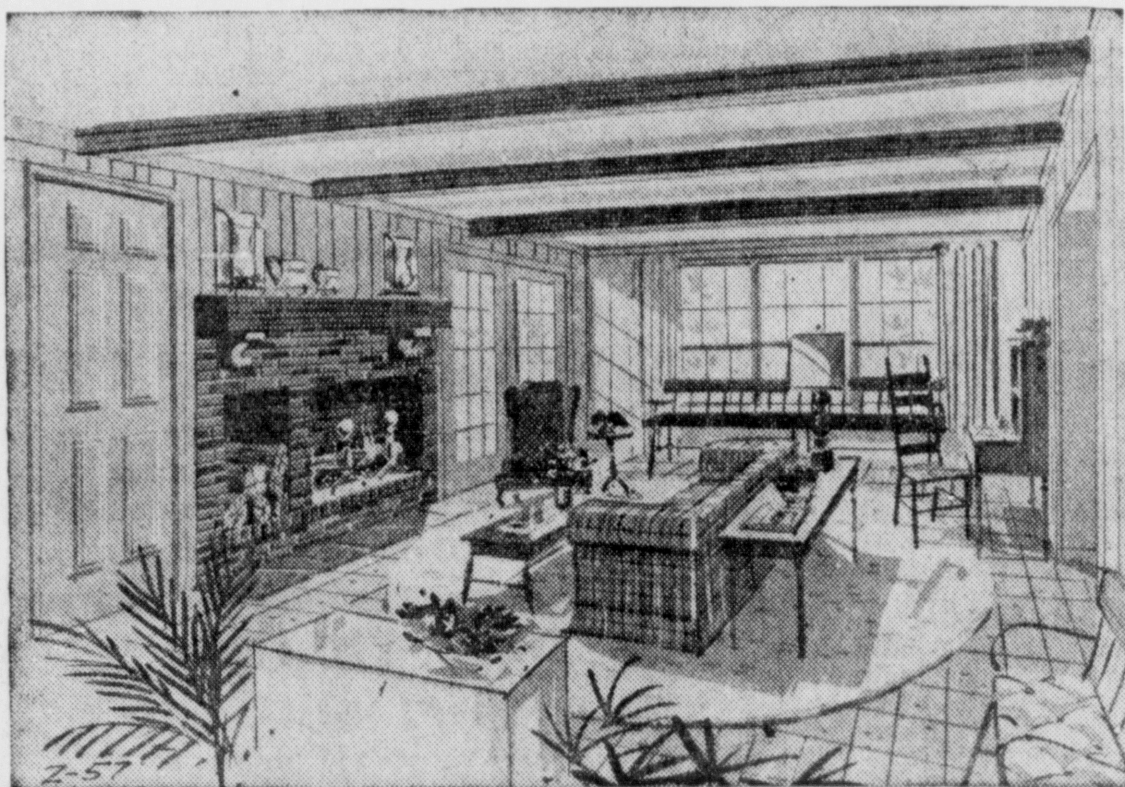

Design Z-57 is a split level, with 1520 square feet of habitable area on the two lower levels, made up of living room, dining room, kitchen-dinette, study, foyer, laundry, family room and a dual-entry bathroom. Upstairs are four bedrooms and two baths, adding 960 square feet to the livable portion. And outdoor terrace is behind the two-car garage. Over-all dimensions are 65' 2" by 37' 11". A basement is located under the living room, dining room and kitchen. . . .

Two bedrooms are at the front of the house, the main bedroom at the back. The latter has a large walk-in closet, a private bath and a chute leading to the laundry room below. The fourth room has been designed as a sitting room or an extra bedroom. If the owners choose to use it as a sitting room, an arch or doorway can be placed between it and the main bedroom. For a very large family, all upper level rooms and the optional study downstairs can be used as bedrooms.

The somewhat restrained character of the exterior combined brick and beveled siding in one of the most popular of all styles. A two-car garage, with its doors opening to the side, can be changed, if the property isn't wide enough, to show the doors toward the front without seriously affecting the design.

The Chesapeake Bay derives its name from an Indian word meaning "Great Shellfish Bay."

FAMILY ROOM: Comfort is the keynote here, with attractive fireplace, doors leading to outdoor terrace and large windows looking out on rear. Single door in left foreground leads to garage.

Strike Imperils Drink In Detroit

LINCOLN PARK (AP)—Despite a wildcat strike by 35 employees, the Michigan Liquor Control Commission in the Detroit suburb of Lincoln Park says it plans to keep booze flowing to its customers.

Commission Business Manager George Burke Jr. said, "This includes using supervisory employees and hiring new workers, which we have been authorized to do by the State Civil Service Commission."

The walkout by fillers and checkers at the Commission's largest wholesale store Thursday was called illegal by both the state's Hutchinson Act and civil service rules.

The Hutchinson Act prohibits strikes by public employees. As a result, the Commission began suspending the 35 employees by telegram.

A spokesman for the American Federation of State, Local and Municipal Employees Local 1342, Chief Steward Leroy McDuffy, said that 89 employees are involved in the dispute, rather than 35.

McDuffy said the workers were "locked out" and forced to leave the premises after negotiations on wages and working conditions broke down.

He said the union is seeking wage hikes of 80 cents an hour and that the state's proposed increase would provide only a 10-cent increase for order fillers and nothing for checkers.

Workers walked out an hour and a half after punching their time cards, Burke said, and they refused to take their positions on the assembly line which fills liquor orders.

Burke said the store services the accounts of 2,100 Class C (bar) and SDD (package liquor) licensees in the Detroit metropolitan area.

"Where Your Money Does More"

Parks Will Sing 'Miss America'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP) — "The Goldiggers," NBC's youth-oriented summer variety series, marched gaily into oblivion with Thursday night's performance.

And it will be missed by, among others, a lot of parents and a sprinkling of grandparents. What other show can make a finger-snapping teen turn to a TV-watching parent and say with surprise, "Why, Dad, you know all the words."

The idea of reprising the old 1930 and 1940 songs in a modern frame worked out to be excellent summer entertainment. There has been plenty of song and dance, pretty good comedy and a nice blithe spirit all around.

There is talk of bringing it back as a midwinter replacement although at the moment it seems that the three networks are overstocked with variety shows.

"Honorable Men"

Next week the hour will be filled with the first of NBC's "On Stage" series of original dramas, Rod Serling's "Certain Honorable Men."

Serling's drama about national politics and politicians—premiere of NBC's answer to "CBS Playhouse"—will be slightly unusual because it will be allowed to run a few minutes beyond its allocated 90 minutes. It will not really mean that the network is planning to abandon the rigid time barriers that chop commercial television into 30, 60, or 90-minute segments. The extra few minutes will run beyond prime time into the late evening newscasts, which are local shows.

It would be difficult to run overtime for even a minute or two in a program broadcast in mid-evening because that would upset the timing for other network shows and, worse, commercials.

Theme Song Switch

At the 11th hour, the producers of next Saturday night's "Miss America Pageant" made their peace with the composer of the show's stirring theme song and Bert Parks as usual will be heard warbling "There She is, Miss America."

For a while it seemed that the pageant, televised annually since 1954, would just not be the same. Composer Bernie Wayne and the pageant management disagreed about royalties for the song and it was decided to drop it.

Bess Myerson, the 1945 Miss America, has been hostess for the past 14 years and Parks has been master of ceremonies and official baritone since 1955.

Comes Back

"What's My Line" after all those years on CBS will be reborn next week as a syndicated series—a daily series sold to local stations. Arlene Francis will be the only member of the original cast and a former ABC newsmen, Wally Bruner, will have John Daly's old moderating job.

The familiar format of the guessing game has been changed. In the new version the guests will demonstrate their occupations, on stage or by film clips.

"We, the People," the popular guidebook of the U. S. Capitol published by the United States Capitol Historical Society, has been translated into French, German, Italian, Portuguese and Spanish.

Graham Movie Back In Town

The Billy Graham movie "The Restless Ones," which was viewed by more than 5,000 persons here last November, has returned to the Escanaba area for a three day showing at the Hilltop Drive-In Theater on Danforth Road starting today.

Showings are under the sponsorship of local area churches under the direction of Rev. Erland Carlson, pastor of Christ the King Lutheran Church.

AN EXCAVATOR using a drag line constructs a canal in the blueberry bog development project of the Forestry Division, Michigan Department of Conservation in the Mackinac State Forest in Mackinac County. The canal creates a firebreak for the burning of the bog and also creates a walkway for berry pickers. (Conservation Department photo by Bill Mahalak)

Forestry Division Burns Bogs To Bring Blueberries

By BILL MAHALAK
Area Forester
Conservation Department

Realizing the interest in wild blueberry picking both as a recreation and as a way to get the fixings for some mighty tasty pies and preserves, the Michigan Department of Conservation's Forestry Division has been working on a number of projects which will provide more of those delicious little berries for the public. Probably the largest of these projects is under way on the 1,400 acre Cranberry Lake bog located in the Mackinac State Forest in Mackinac County.

The project is sponsored by the Forestry Division and the Fire Division has supplied the equipment operators. Two permanent fire breaks will be built which will divide the large blueberry bog into three compartments. One of the fire breaks is now under construction and was completed in early August. It will be used and evaluated for one or two years before the second fire break is constructed.

It is planned to burn over one compartment every two or three years. Burning must be done under just the right moisture conditions so that only the tops of the bushes are pruned off by the fire. If conditions are too dry, the roots are also destroyed, or if too wet, the bog will not burn over at all. The pruning of the bushes along with the reduction of other competing plants stimulates berry production. On other projects where higher ground is involved this pruning is usually done by crawler tractors pulling heavy disks, but on this particular project it is necessary to use fire.

The fire breaks are being built by two methods. Wherever sand is easily available an approximately 15 foot wide sand road is being built. When the equipment gets out where sand is not available, a canal 12 to 14 feet wide and approximately 6 feet deep is being dug.

The water-filled canal will act as a fire break and the material removed from it is being piled alongside to form a walkway so that berry pickers may more easily reach the back portion of the bog. The canals will have the added benefit of attracting more wildlife to the area.

In 1955 this bog was completely burned over by a wildfire. Luckily, conditions were just right and a tremendous crop of blueberries resulted. The Conservation Department attempted to reburn the bog in 1963 but because of heavy rainfall only a light, partial burn was accomplished. In the hot, dry summer of 1966 two wildfires burned over a total of 295 acres before they were put out by the Fire Division.

Because of the dry conditions during the 1966 fires, the blueberry bushes were completely destroyed on part of the area. These fires have, however, resulted in a fair to good crop of blueberries this year on about 100 acres of compartment 3 (see map). A much better crop was expected but many of the small berries were damaged by two severe frosts.

For anyone intending to pick on this area we recommend that at least ankle high boots be worn. The bog is like a giant sponge and each step squeezes out a little water. Also, don't forget your insect repellent. The blackflies can be very pesky at times.

State Court Changes Plagued By Wrinkles

LANSING (AP) — Implementing Michigan's new 150-judge district court system is creating some problems, but probably none that can't be worked out, says State Court Administrator William R. Hart.

"We won't have all the wrinkles smoothed out by the first of the year," he said. "We've got to move fast, but we've got time."

The new court system, created by the Lower Court Reorganization Act given legislative approval this year, will replace the state's justices of the peace and circuit court commissioners, as well as most existing city courts.

Start January 1

The district courts come into official existence Jan. 1, and Hart says they'll probably be ready to function by then. But there are questions which the Supreme Court—which has the final say—must answer before then.

And there may be areas where the Legislature will have to change its complex new court bill next year.

Meanwhile, a three-member committee of the Supreme Court has been set up to oversee the district courts, and another committee of justices is drafting proposed court rules.

Some of the problems, Hart says, include:

Law Change Needed

—The fact that a legislative oversight might now make it impossible for rural court district judges to hold court in county buildings if the buildings are in cities which are part of different districts.

For example, judges in the 69th District, which is the City of Saginaw, could sit in buildings in the city, but those in the 70th—the rest of Saginaw County—apparently could not, and would have to find courtrooms elsewhere.

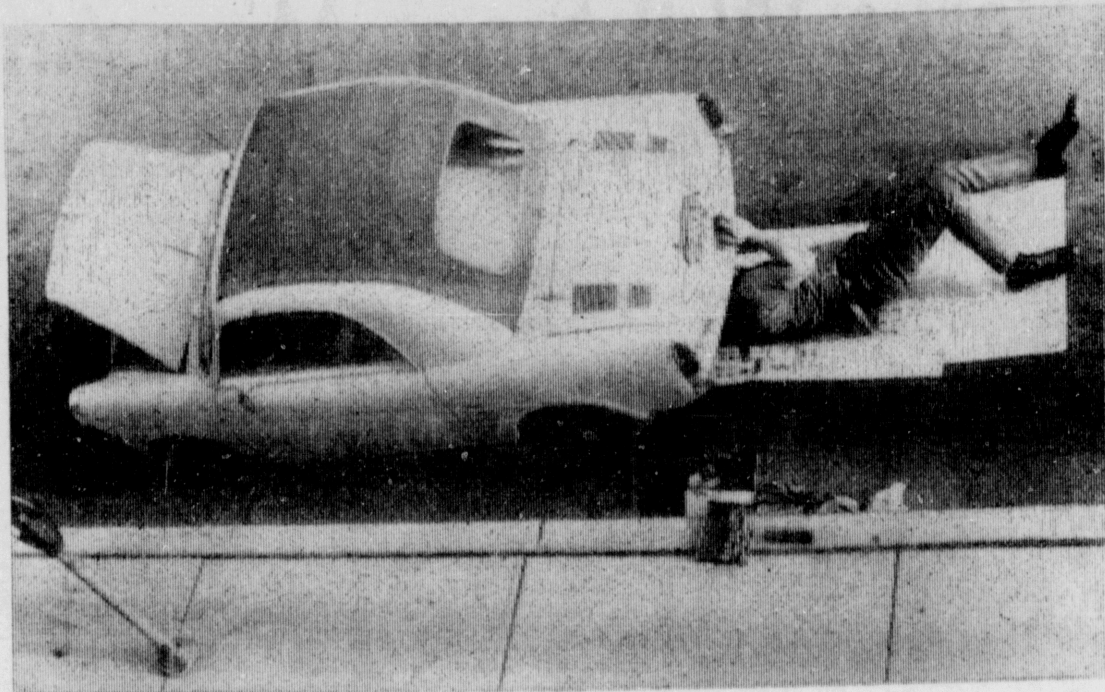

Sen. Robert Richardson, R-Saginaw, who discovered the problem, said he will introduce legislation next year to resolve it.

Records Transfer

—How to transfer records to the new courts from the justice courts, which are abolished effective Dec. 31. Hart hopes cities and counties will designate clerical employees, such as their clerks, to receive them.

—Where to get electronic recording devices, which the new courts may use in place of the traditional court stenographer. Four companies are bidding to supply them.

—Whom to pick as the $19,000-a-year deputy court administrator to devote his time to

DUFFY DAUGHERTY, head football coach at Michigan State University, slimmed down after losing 37 pounds, leads his Spartans onto the practice field in preparation for the home opener on September 21 against Syracuse. (AP Wirephoto)

Daugherty Claims MSU To Field Better Team

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State's Spartans are pinning their football hopes this season on a defensive unit which got most of its college experience in the doctor's office and on the bench.

But head coach Duffy Daugherty thinks the mixture of youngsters and healed "cripples" that will take the field against Syracuse Sept. 21 will have more stopping power than the injury-riddled 1967 crew, which yielded opponents 3,370 yards.

"We'll have a better team than last year," vows Daugherty, who admits that isn't saying much. State compiled a dismal 3-7 record in 1967, its worst in 50 years.

"We'll have a young team," he adds. "There probably won't be more than four or five seniors on our first offensive and defensive units."

Two bright spots in the Spartan lineup as the team begins contact work this week are veteran seniors Frank Waters and Al Brenner, who both are likely to see action on both the offensive and defensive squads.

Waters, a 185-pound senior from Hillsdale with two years' experience at halfback, is scheduled to double as flanker and defensive halfback. Brenner, team captain from Niles, can look forward as offensive split end and as safety.

Players hobbled by injuries in 1967 but back in action this year include defensive halfback Cliff Zindell and Roger Ruminiski.

Still a question mark, through though, is 245-pound guard Lawrence (Tody) Smith, a brother of 1966 All American Charles (Bubba) Smith. Tody injured his foot in the first 1967 outing and sat out the year.

Junior Rich Saul, a starter last year, is a cinch for a defensive linebacker slot, while his twin brother Ron is a returning starter in the offensive line.

The other returning first stringer on the defensive platoon is Charles Bailey, a 230-pound senior tackle from Dayton, Ohio.

Competing for the defensive linebacker slots are junior lettermen Frank Taylor and Don Law and sophomores Calvin Fox, Mike Hogan and Tom Barnum. Letterman Bob Super and newcomer Gary Parnettier are both looking for a job as roverback.

For the cornerback slots, there's competition among Waters, Hardy, seniors Kent Heft and Wade Payne, and sophs Art Berry and Harold Phillips.

On the offensive side, senior Bill Feraco is the front-running candidate for quarterback, being pushed by sophomores Gordon Longmire of Tracy, Calif., and Bill Triplett of Vicksburg, Miss.

Feraco, of Irwin, Pa., played second fiddle to starter Jimmy Raye last year, but saw frequent action and gelled the losing effort at Notre Dame which Raye sat out with injured ribs.

For the season, Feraco completed 32 passes out of 72 for 325 yards and three interceptions. On the ground, he netted 13 yards in 38 carries.

The likely offensive first team contains eight lettermen but only two of last year's regular starters — Brenner and Ron Saul. The Spartans' No. 2 rusher in 1967, junior back Lamarr Thomas, is out of the lineup for the year with a chronic knee disorder.

Coach Daugherty gave his players an extra three days of exercise and training in football basics under a new NCAA rule before starting hitting practice Wednesday.

On the schedule after the opening home game with Syracuse are such powerhouses as Minnesota, Ohio State, Notre Dame and Purdue. But Daugherty has a special interest in trimming the Orangemen from Syracuse.

Their school is his alma mater, where he played lineman and later coached before coming to Michigan State.

McLain Has 6 Shots Remaining In Pursuit

DETROIT (AP) — Denny McLain has about six shots left to win 30 games and the brash Detroit Tigers' right-hander gets one of them tonight when the Bengals take on the Minnesota Twins in the opener of a three-game series.

McLain, now 27-5, has beaten the Twins five times without a loss this year.

"Sure, I'm thinking about 30 games," said McLain. "But I'm thinking about the pennant first — and then about No. 28."

The pressure has been mounting on the 25-year-old son-in-law of former big manager Lou Boudreau. But he seems to come through with the right pitch at the right moment.

He staggered to a 7-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles for his 27th victory last Sunday after turning a hot liner off the bat of Boog Powell into a triple play.

After that, he held the Orioles to two hits over the six innings.

"I don't know how he settled down," said Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver, whose team now trails the pennant-bound Tigers by eight games with 21 to play. "He didn't have any stuff but he pitched well. He put the ball in some good places. I thought we had him out of there."

The first American League pitcher to win 30 games was Lefty Grove, who posted a 31-4 mark for the Philadelphia Athletics in 1931. Grove was 31 at the time and didn't win his 28th game until Sept. 8.

Assuming the Tigers clinch the pennant within the next 10 days, McLain should get about five more starts after tonight's game. Manager Mayo Smith says he plans to use McLain with a full four days rest between assignments to give his strained right shoulder a chance to rest before the World Series.

The strain, caused by overdevelopment of the right side of McLain's body, requires periodic treatments. But it hasn't caused McLain to miss a start.

This, no doubt, is partly because the young fire-baller didn't win a game in the entire month of September last year when Detroit lost the pennant on the final day of the season.

McLain suffered a foot injury when, he said, his foot fell while watching television.

It's no secret Smith didn't exactly jump for joy at this explanation.

McLain didn't talk about it at spring training in Florida, but he did say: "I've got something to prove this year."

Six-Team Scramble Predicted In West

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK (AP) — Can Green Bay's National Football League dynasty survive the abdication of its architect-prince? No doubt about it, says the man who should know best. And who's going to argue with Vince Lombardi?

"The greatness of the Packers is ahead of them," Lombardi promised last winter after relinquishing the Green Bay coaching reins to Phil Bengtson, his defensive Merlin through nine years and five NFL championships.

Now, it's up to the Packers to keep the faith, and the Lombardi legacy—pride, discipline and Bart Starr—plus plenty of talent should carry them through another bitter Western Conference struggle to the East-West title game on Dec. 29.

Unlike the East, where Dallas could run away and hide from the pack, the Western race figures to be a five-or-six-way scramble. The Packers can expect intensified Central Division challenges from Chicago and Detroit. The Los Angeles Rams, Coastal Division champs last year, again should go down to the wire with Baltimore and, possibly, San Francisco.

Here's the way the finish looks from this grandstand seat:

Central Coastal
1. Green Bay 1. Los Angeles
2. Chicago 2. Baltimore
3. Detroit 3. San Francisco
4. Minnesota 4. Atlanta

The Packers' chief assets during the Lombardi era—spirit, toughness, execution—remain for Bengtson to exploit. Starr is Green Bay's money man, having risen to the occasion time and again when blue chips were on the line.

The gutsy quarterback bridged the gap while the Packers' ground-gaining machinery passed from the hands of Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor to maturing bonus babes Donny Anderson and Jim Grabowski.

Still, the strongest suit is a fierce defensive unit led by the NFL's finest linebacking trio—Dave Robinson, Ray Nitschke and Lee Roy Caffey—and best cornerbacks—Bob Jeter and Herb Adderley.

Defense also is the name of the game for the Bears, who finished with a rush in 1967, beat Green Bay in a recent exhibition and could be ready to give the Packers a run for the money under new Coach Jim Dooley, hand-picked successor to retired Papa Bear George Halas.

Middle linebacker Dick Butkus leads Chicago's rough-and-tumble defensive crew but sensational Gale Sayers has been carrying the offensive load for four years, and even Sayers needs a little help.

The Lions came up with NFL's two top rookies—running back Mel Farr and defensive back Lem Barney—last season and landed another prize—receiver Earl McCullough—in this year's draft. They also acquired quarterback Bull Munson in a trade with Los Angeles, giving Coach Joe Schmidt the offensive-defensive balance he lacked in the past.

Minnesota, which missed

Fran Tarkenton's passing arm in 1967, split a pair of three-point squeakers with Green Bay and tied Baltimore in an otherwise lost season. The acquisition of quarterback Gary Cuozzo, from New Orleans, could bolster the Vikings' attack, but it's likely their young defenders will carry a heavy burden again this season.

Roman Gabriel, Los Angeles' towering signal-caller, came into his own last year and the Rams rolled up an 11-1-2 record for their winningest season ever. But the Year of the Ram ended a week too early, when Green Bay applied a 28-7 stopper in the Western Conference playoff.

Gabriel, running backs Dick Bass and Les Josephson, receiver Jack Snow and the Fearsome Foursome of Dave Jones, Lamar Lundy, Merlin Olsen and Roger Brown should be just as formidable in 1968.

They'll have to be to repeat their Coastal conquest of Baltimore, which went unbeaten for 13 games before bowing 34-10 in the regular season finale at Los Angeles. Since then, longtime offensive mainstays Lenny Moore, Raymond Berry and Jim Parker have hung up on the cleats. But Johnny Unitas is back at the helm ... and what more could any team ask for?

Timmy Brown? The Colts have him. And the change of scenery could work wonders for the ex-Philadelphia flash, who reversed his field after a brief retirement and joined his new club.

Dick Nolan, San Francisco's new coach, directed Dallas' Domesday Defense for six years before heading west. The 49ers are blessed with a wealth of offensive talent, from quarterbacks John Brodie and George Mira down to a top-flight forward wall. So Nolan likely will be able to concentrate on defense again, with the development of rookie lineman Kevin Hardy a major project.

Atlanta's young Falcons were out of their depth in the wild West last year, winning only once in 14 starts. The prospects are no brighter this season, with top running threat Junior Coffey out indefinitely with a knee injury. Middle linebacker Tommy Nobis was an all-NFL choice in his second year as a pro. Unfortunately for Atlanta, there's only one of him.

Mauch To Fill Montreal Post

MONTREAL (AP) — Two new names were added to Montreal's National League baseball team Thursday—those of a manager and a club name.

John McHale, president of the club, announced that Gene Mauch, former manager of Philadelphia Phillies, has been hired to handle the same position with the Expos, Montreal's new club name.

Mauch, 43, was released by the Phillies in June after reported differences with batting star Richie Allen. He had been with the Philadelphia organization for 8½ years.

The field manager is expected to meet with the team's scouting staff sometime today—Ed Lopat, Bobby Bragan, Buzz Boyle, Johnny Moore and Larry Doby.

During his tenure with the Phils, Mauch guided the club from eighth-place finish in 1960 and 1961 to seventh in 1962, fourth in 1963, a tie for second in 1964, sixth in 1965, fourth in 1966 and fifth last year.

Bengals, Cards Resume Battles

By The Associated Press
DETROIT and St. Louis resume their pennant chases tonight with the Tigers home against the Minnesota Twins and the Cardinals hosting the San Francisco Giants for a two-night doubleheader.

The Tigers, enjoying an eight game bulge, in the American League, have 21 games to play — the same number as pursuing Baltimore. That means the magic number for Detroit to clinch its first pennant since 1945 is 14. Any combination of 14 Tiger wins and/or Oriole losses will wrap it up for Detroit.

The National League Cardinals are 13½ games in front of second place San Francisco and have the same record as the Tigers—89-52.

St. Louis, with 21 games remaining, has a magic number of seven to clinch its second consecutive flag.

In the only game played in the majors Thursday, the Chicago White Sox nipped Washington 2-1.

Gerry McNertney's two-run single in the seventh inning wiped out a 1-0 Washington lead and gave rookie Jerry Nyman his second straight victory. Nyman allowed three hits in seven innings with Hoyt Wilhelm and Gary Peters finishing up.

The Tigers send Denny McLain after his 28th victory to-night against the Twins, who will counter with Jim Kaat, 12-10.

In tonight's other American League games, Washington plays at New York with Jim Hannan, 9-3, going for the Senators against Mel Stottlemyre, 18-11. Cleveland is at Oakland with Stan Williams, 11-9, opposing John "Blue Moon" Odom, 13-9.

Chicago sends Joe Horlen, 10-12, against the Orioles' Jim Hardin, 17-10, at Baltimore. Jim

Northern Opens Slate Against Northern Iowa

MARQUETTE — Northern Michigan, which hasn't lost a regular season game since Dayton turned the trick 10-0 two years ago, opens the 1968 campaign at home Saturday against Northern Iowa.

Kick-off time is 1:30 CDT in the Air Force Day contest honoring the men and women of nearby K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base.

The Wildcats went through the 1967 season unbeaten and untied in nine games before bowing in a post-season contest. They have a string of 12 consecutive regular season games without defeat, dating back to the Dayton loss in October of 1966.

Head coach Rollie Dotsch expects to field starting lineups with lettermen at every position against the Iowans. He has eight offensive starters and seven defensive starters back from his '67 club.

Leading the Wildcat attack will be Little All-America halfback Lonnie Holton (Alma), Northern's leading ground gainer (786 yards) and scorer (60) last season.

The front line is led by another Little All-America pick of a year ago, strong side guard Jim Meyer (Milwaukee), a Wildcat tri-captain.

A third Little All-American, picked two years running at defensive back, John Chrisant (Chicopee, Mass.), has switched to linebacker, where he will captain the NNU defense.

Dotsch has tapped Rich McCarthy (Kingsford), a two year letterman who understudied the position a year ago, to open against Northern Iowa at quarterback.

The Iowans will be led by quarterback Phil Schooley, a 6' 3", 215-pounder, who was a record-setting passer at UNI a year ago. His favorite receiver is split end Marv Johnson.

Northern Iowa has lost three straight games to NNU, including a 7-3 setback last fall when the Wildcats came from behind with a fourth quarter touchdown. UNI had a 7-3 record a year ago, losing three games by a total of eight points, half of those against Northern.

In addition to McCarthy at quarterback, at least eight other Upper Peninsula gridders will be in Northern's starting lineup Saturday.

Jim Lindstrom (Iron Mountain) will be at right halfback, Paul Santoni (Kingsford) at tight end, Dan Scheuren (Cornell) at inside tackle, and Tom Watson (Newberry) at outside tackle offensively.

Guy Kangas (Ironwood) starts at right tackle, Doug Peterson (Stambaugh) at right end, Arlen Bell (Sault Ste. Marie) at linebacker, and Mike Perry (Newberry) at cornerback defensively.

Steve Slining (Ironwood) may get a starting nod if regular Don Wagner, injured in practice, is unable to start at offensive end.

Jerry Lutri (Stephenson) and Jerry Drazkowski (Bessemer) are behind Scheuren and Watson at tackles. Bob Bricco (Gladstone) and Geoff Sitkoski (Iron River) will see action as halfbacks, and Randy Planck (Newberry) is the reserve quarterback.

Another peninsula griddier, Bob Bertrand (Menominee), an eight offensive starters, is out of action for four weeks with a broken foot.

Horton Changes Name To "Willie"

DETROIT (AP) — Willie Horton, slugging outfielder for the pennant-bound Detroit Tigers, is making it official.

He's going to change his name from William Wattison Horton to just plain "Willie."

Horton was to have appeared in Wayne County Probate Court Thursday to make the change official. But he called the court and asked for a postponement because of the long trip from Oakland, Calif., where he drove in the deciding run in a 4-2 Tiger victory over the Athletics Wednesday night.

Joseph Brown, Horton's lawyer, said the power-hitting outfielder is seeking the change because he is known professionally as Willie and has been signing his name as Willie for six years.

"When you say William Horton, that could be anyone on the street," explained Brown. "But when you say Willie Horton everyone knows whom you are talking about."

Waivers Asked

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers asked waivers Thursday on veteran linebacker Wally Hilgenberg, obtained in a trade with the Detroit Lions.

Improvement Prospects At Michigan Look Slim

ANN ARBOR (AP)—There is a somewhat forced air of optimism about Michigan's football prospects this season.

It is widely believed that this is the do-or-die season for Coach Bump Elliott, who has run the University of Michigan coaching staff since 1959.

Since former track coach Don Canham succeeded Fritz Crisler as athletic director this summer, there have been many changes in coaching personnel. And, if the Wolverines don't have a winning football season, some observers think Elliott may not be around much longer.

But Michigan could only muster an indifferent 4-6 record last season, after dropping five of its six games. Although last season's inexperienced team has had a year to mature, observers feel the prospects for sharp improvement in the team's record are slim.

A large portion of Michigan's hopes ride on senior Ron Johnson, one of this year's crop of outstanding running backs. Johnson is captain of the Wolverine squad.

Last year, Johnson led the Wolverines in rushing, gaining 1,005 yards in 220 carries for an average of 4.6 yards per carry. One of the few highlights of Michigan's 1967 season came in the Navy game, when Johnson, a graduate of Detroit Northwestern High School, carried the ball 270 yards, a team record.

The 6-foot-1, 196-pound Johnson looked stronger than ever in practices and scrimmages this fall. However, he suffered a compound dislocation of his right thumb in scrimmage last Saturday and, while Elliott said he would be ready to play immediately, his pass receiving ability is doubtful with his right hand in a splint.

Fortunately, the team is more dependent on Johnson's running than on his receiving.

But both passing and pass receiving are likely to be headaches for the Wolverines. Diminutive Dennis Brown, a 5-foot-8, 165-pound senior from Lincoln Park, will be the starting quarterback. He took the job from Dick Vidmer at midseason last year. Brown is an excellent scrambler and an outstanding runner for a man his size, but he has had trouble hitting his receivers and in hanging onto the ball in practice.

Brown's primary target will likely be Billy Harris, a 6-foot-1, 195-pound untested junior from Mount Clemens. Harris played behind split ends Jim Berline and Tom Pullen last season. This, together with injuries, kept him sidelined for the year.

The flanker back position is still open. John Gabler, a junior from Royal Oak, is the leading prospect for the slot. But Elliott has not yet awarded anyone the spot on the starting team.

At tight end will be letterman senior Warren Mandich. Mandich's value to the team has been as blocker rather than as a receiver, and he is likely to continue in that role.

The offensive line is a question mark. Dave Denzin, a senior from Xenia, Ohio, has replaced 1967 captain Joe Dayton at center. Dan Dierdorf, a sophomore from Canton, Ohio, has replaced Ray Phillips, the key man of last year's line, at tackle. Lettermen Bob Penska, Bob Baumgartner and Stan Broadnax have returned.

Elliott has promised a more wide-open offense this season. One of the major criticisms leveled against Elliott's coaching has been of his conservative tactics on offense. Michigan was one of the last major colleges to switch from the T-formation to the pro-I, a move that came in midseason desperation last year.

However, with Elliott fighting for his job, many observers expect to see more razzle-dazzle from the Wolverines on offense this year.

The defense, however, remains a major problem area. Last year's defensive backfield was something less than exciting, but it matured as the season went on. The agile but lightweight backfield of Bryan Healy and George Hoey in the corners and Tom Curtis and Jerry Hartman at safety returns intact. Curtis, at 6-foot-1 and 184 pounds, is the biggest man in the backfield.

After a brief flirtation with a 4-3 defense last season, Michigan has returned to its traditional 5-2-4 Oklahoma defense.

Sorely missed from the defensive squad will be linebacker-end Rocky Rosema, who has graduated.

Senior Jon Kramer and junior Phil Seymour, a cousin of Notre Dame's Jim Seymour, will be at the ends. Both saw extensive action last season. Tom Stincic, a promising senior who has been seriously hampered by recurring back trouble, and nonletterman junior Cecil Pryor will back the line.

Interior linemen Jerry Miklos, Tom Goss and Dan Parks will fill out the defense. Miklos and Goss earned their letters last year. Parks, a sophomore, is a 6-foot-5, 235-pound newcomer from Birmingham Brother Rice.

Like its offensive counterpart, the defensive line remains an open question and cannot be judged until seen in action in a game. However, it appears that if Michigan is to have a winning season this year, the experienced backfield will have to compensate for questionable lines.

Mathis Scores Split Decision

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Heavyweight boxer Buster Mathis has lost but one fight in 27—to Joe Frazier—but his 26th victory afforded the big fellow from Grand Rapids, Mich., his weirdest exhibition of scoring.

He agreed that his 10-round triumph over veteran trial-horse Amos "Big Train" Lincoln Thursday night was hardly an artistic exercise.

The decision before a small crowd of 3,836 at the Olympic Auditorium was split, a verdict that brought jeers from even the pro-Big Train partisans.

Try this for odd ones: Judge George Latka blanked Lincoln, 11-0, and referee Dick Young had it 9-1 for Mathis.

Judge Joey Olmos scored 5-4—for Lincoln.

The Associated Press' card was 7-1, Mathis.

Mathis weighed 220½, Los Angeles' Lincoln 209½.

Later, in the dressing room, 24-year-old Buster, sweating profusely on the hot evening, admitted candidly:

"I fought a bad fight. I don't know why. But my trainer, Joe Fariello, he tells me I'm fighting a bad fight, and my managers, they say the same thing.

"Friends come up and say 'good win,' but my managers, Joe, they all tell me the truth because they want to help me."

World's Finest Bourbon a 173-Year-Old Secret

CHICAGO, ILL.—Before you can call yourself the world's finest anything—you'd better have a case in your favor.

Jim Beam Bourbon has that "case."

The whole matter started with Jacob Beam—who would be 200 years old this year—and a secret he discovered.

The secret, in the case of Jim Beam Bourbon, goes back to 1795, and it is still hush-hush today. The secret lay in the heart of Kentucky where there was, and is today, the right combination for pleasure. The right land. The right climate: the perfect Bourbon formula.

In north central Kentucky, Jacob Beam found clean iron-free water—water that came from limestone springs considered the very finest. Beam set out to make Bourbon in the rolling country and he added his own pride.

Six generations later, the price of the distiller's through glass. Every glass of Bourbon is nature and the Booker Noe—over a span of 173 years. And it's still a big secret. All those Beams have rested their case on that worthy of the Jim Beam Bourbon today owes much to the preservation and a to the original formula.

SONNY AND COOL describes the situation here as quarterback Sonny Jurgensen of the Washington Redskins soaks his throwing arm in ice water. Jurgensen had an operation on his arm last winter and now takes a 10-minute soak after each passing session.

Veteran Team Begins Season

POWERS - SPALDING—Coach Mike Forsberg, starting his second season at Powers-Spalding High School, will have 11 lettermen on hand from last year's squad which posted a perfect 6-0 mark when his Tigers take the field at Rock tomorrow for a Wolverine Conference game.

Back in the fold for this season are Kim Riedy, John Nelson, Ron DeLoughary, Mark Veesser, Don Sharkey, Jack Fleetwood, Dick Smith, Doug Gelone, Dan Fleetwood, David Behrend and Bob Weissert.

Other candidates include Daryl Beauchamp, Richard Bouty, Robert Fleetwood, Ron Hanson, Jeff Land, Bob Mileski, Stewart Perry, Anthony Pietsch, Jim Pipkorn, Gary Priot, Jeff Triest and Bob Willis.

Powers-Spalding lost five all-conference players through graduation in Scott Riedy, Tom Smith, Roger Stebbins, Bruce Murray and David Pietsch.

Murray and Pietsch were given honorable mention honors in the conference.

"We hope our speed can offset our small size," says coach Forsberg. "If determination is any measure of performance, we shall be in the thick of the fight this year."

The Tigers have personnel who saw considerable action last fall including regulars Nelson, Riedy and Smith. Newcomers Mileski and Pipkorn have been impressive in drills to date.

The Tiger schedule:

Sept. 7—at Rock
Sept. 14—Pembine
Sept. 21—Bark River
Sept. 28—at Pembine
Oct. 5—at Bark River
Oct. 12—Rock

AFL Openers Scheduled; Bengals Meet Chargers

By The Associated Press

Cincinnati will find out if a couple of preseason surprises mean anything in the first play-for-keeps match while the prestige of the venerable National Football League is at stake in a couple of games that don't mean anything this weekend.

In a quirk of scheduling, the expansion Bengals open the American League campaign at San Diego Friday night before most of the other pro teams wrapup exhibition activity.

The Bengals, rated two touchdown underdogs in the game to be nationally televised by NBC at 8:30 p.m., pulled off a couple of upsets in their last two exhibitions—beating Pittsburgh and the New York Jets.

Two other AFL openers also are on tap during the weekend. Boston is at Buffalo Sunday, while two top threats—Kansas City's Western Division runners-up and Houston's defending Eastern titlists—meet at Houston Monday night, both games will be televised nationally by NBC.

In addition, there are 10 exhibitions Friday night and Saturday—including two interleague tests. And, the NFL will have to win both to accomplish a little face saving.

The AFL, winners of only three of 16 games with the elder league last season, hold an 11-10 edge in face-to-face meetings this summer.

Because of Joe Namath's injured knee, Detroit, NFL, is favored to stop the New York Jets, AFL, in the first game of a doubleheader at Cleveland Saturday night. But a showdown the same evening between the Atlanta Falcons, NFL, at Miami, AFL, is rated a toss-up.

Three NFL exhibitions are scheduled Friday night: Minnesota vs. New Orleans at Shreveport, La., St. Louis at Chicago and San Francisco at Los Angeles.

Green Bay's champions collide with the Browns in the second game of the doubleheader at Cleveland Saturday night, while New York plays Philadelphia in the afternoon at Princeton, N.J.; Baltimore is at Dallas, and Pittsburgh plays Washington at Norfolk, Va.

Denver meets Oakland at Portland, Ore., in an AFL exhibition Saturday night.

The NFL swings into regular season play Saturday, Sept. 14, with Atlanta at Minnesota.

Paul Brown, former Cleveland boss who stepped out of retirement to guide the first season fortunes of Cincinnati, isn't overly optimistic despite the Bengals last two victories after losing their first three exhibitions.

"We haven't played anybody when it really counted," he said, quickly pointing out that when New Orleans made its debut in the NFL last season it won five exhibition games, then was defeated in seven straight league games.

San Diego, winner of three of five preseason games, is pinning its hopes on a revamped defense and an explosive offense headed by quarterback John Hadl.

Brown indicated John Stofa, bothered with a knee injury, and rookie Dewey Warren would share the Bengals' quarterbacking chores.

Piston Cager Tells Incident

SEATTLE (AP)—Detroit Pistons' forward Harold (Happy) Hairston who volunteered as a teacher in a Seattle self-help training project this summer, Thursday complained of "police harassment."

The Negro athlete called a news conference to tell of the incident, which he said began when he was stopped Tuesday night for allegedly speeding 15 miles an hour over the limit in Seattle.

Hairston said he was searched, his car was impounded and he was taken to jail. He said one of the arresting patrolmen, Gerald Thomas, was "belligerent," but that Thomas' partner, patrolman Gary Veatch, was "as gentlemanly as any man I know, black or white."

Inspector G. Fuller, head of the police department's new inspectional services division, said the official traffic report showed Hairston refused to sign the citation, as required by state law. When a driver refuses to sign, Fuller explained, police are obligated to arrest him.

The police report said Hairston became "hostile." Hairston said he wanted to consult an attorney before signing anything.

Fuller said his division will investigate the matter and the policemen involved if Hairston makes an official complaint.

Panther® Always First with the Features that Count!

Mounting the engine forward started a whole chain of better ideas by Arctic. Extra stability resulted from a lower center of gravity. So did speed. Next came aircraft-type construction with an aluminum chassis... riveted throughout to avoid fragile welds. Flip-top hood... better and faster steering... sharper styling throughout. Every Panther is designed and built to give you the EXTRA MARGIN OF VALUE you have a right to expect in a purchase as important as a snowmobile.

Why let some manufacturers hand you the "same old line" year after year? Be first with the features that count... with Arctic Cat's "Panther" for '69!

NEW!
Improved Muffler System on All '69 Panther Models for Quieter Operation and Peak Performance

ARCTIC CAT SNOWMOBILES

First with Flip-Top Hood

The convenience feature originated by Arctic that you'll appreciate most on a subzero day. Flip open two sturdy latches in seconds... and you're ready to inspect or repair every component of Panther's engine, clutch, geared drive and carburetion system.

Flip-Top Tool Box

Ample storage space for tools or supplies, made of rugged polyethylene, double latched lid, full length hinge for extra support.

New Passenger "Hand Hold"

A safety feature that doubles the comfort of passengers, the Panther's new "hand hold" is also an integral part of the '69 model's improved rear end styling.

Fingertip Brake and Throttle, Key Ignition-Light System

Instant control of both brakes and throttle for maximum safety. Removable ignition key controls entire electrical system. ELECTRIC START available on most models.

New Gas Tank, Twin Tail Lights

Rear-mounted gas tank permits larger fuel capacity of 41½ gallons, and doubles as a mounting surface for the Panther's dual tail light design. NEW GAS GAUGE is standard equipment, built into gas tank cap. Tank features self-cleaning filter and check ball.

New Improved Louver System

This crisp new styling improvement is the result of a totally new air induction system designed by Arctic Cat. Channels mounted directly beneath the louvers guide cool air over and around the engine to prevent overheating and assure maximum performance.

Removable Drop Case Cover—Another Panther convenience feature that provides easy access to hook up or replace chains, or change drive sprockets for various operating conditions.

Full One-Year WARRANTY

Every "Panther" is backed with a written ONE-YEAR warranty on materials and workmanship by Arctic Enterprises to assure you of superior engineering and craftsmanship and the finest materials throughout.

Schools Greet 1,959 Students

School bells rang for Manistique Area school children Wednesday morning with 1,959 pupils reporting to the classrooms.

Supt. Edwin E. Wuehle said that the opening day of school went very well but not without the minor upsets that are to be expected in orientating students and faculty to new situations. Wuehle said about 115 new students are enrolled in area schools this year and 200 students are attending different schools than they did last year.

Kindergarten through eighth grade attendance totaled 1,327 children Wednesday with 631 pupils registered in the high school. Seven schools in the area serve the elementary enrollment with 38 teachers.

About 500 hot lunches were served on the opening day with a hot lunch program in effect at Central, Fairview, Hiawatha, Doyle, and Germfask schools. The hot lunches are prepared at Fairview School and transported to the other schools, excepting Germfask.

KING ARTHUR'S SWORD

Legend has it that at King Arthur's death his sword Excalibur was thrown back into the lake by Sir Bedivere. A strange hand drew it below and it was never seen again.

'Mod' Devotion At St. Francis

A "Mod" Eucharistic Devotion will conclude the Forty Hours celebration at St. Francis de Sales Church on Sunday evening at 7:30.

Various priests from the Upper Peninsula and area residents will have an opportunity to experience a modern Eucharistic Devotion implementing the services of a jazz combo, various audio-visual devices, and congregational participation.

"What Are These Among So Many?" is the theme chosen by Father Daniel Zaloga, assistant pastor of St. Francis and producer of the service. Father Zaloga said the service will "attempt to update Christian devotional Eucharistic prayer. The use of jazz, America's 20th Century musical vernacular, will provide the necessary atmosphere to enhance the experience. The audio-visual will aid in providing the congregation with a new way of understanding the role of prayer in their apostolate," he concluded.

Rev. David Jenner of St. Mary's and St. Joseph's Parish, Iron Mountain, will deliver the sermon. The jazz combo will include Don Bays, piano; Art Fountain, Jr., bass; and Jerry Abrams, drums. Among those participating in the service will be Father Kenneth Connor of St. Alban's Episcopal Church; Robert Holton, and Gary Dopke. Guitar accompaniment during the Benediction will be provided by Mrs. Carol Marsh and Sister M. Colleen.

Father Zaloga will deliver an introduction to the service so that the congregation will understand fully the events and their significance as the service progresses. Everyone is invited to attend the service.

Hospital

Admitted Wednesday to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital were Martha Lappek, Bonnie Watson, Ray Prine, Robert Carlson, Herbert Musselman, Linda Peterson, and Howard J. Tennyson.

Discharged was Eugene Calvert.

Community School To Have 50 Adult Classes

Thirty-four classes in the Adult Enrichment Program of the Manistique Community School and sixteen classes in the High School Diploma Program have been tentatively scheduled for the fall term, according to Richard Bonifas, Community School Director.

A listing of the classes and when they will be offered will be mailed to all Schoolcraft County homes and boxholders next week, Bonifas said. The classes will meet one evening a week, Mondays through Thursdays, beginning Sept. 23.

In the enrichment program a wide variety of subjects will be offered, from recreational classes in bridge and skiing to such academic subjects as Russian, modern mathematics, and English grammar review. Commercial courses in typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping have also been scheduled.

In addition recreation activities will be organized by the Community School and City Recreation Department. Volleyball, jogging, slimmastics, basketball and other sports and activities are planned for the coming year.

Diploma Courses
The schedule of required and elected courses in the High School Diploma Program includes sixteen courses. All will be offered if there is sufficient enrollment. Additional classes can be scheduled if interest warrants, Bonifas said. Eight or more students are needed for a course to be offered.

The adult high school courses are open to all adults and out-of-school youths who wish to complete high school requirements, raise their grades, or take a refresher course. The only charge for the high school credit program is a $1 book and materials fee for each course, if the student enrolls before Sept. 27. The fee for the enrichment classes varies from $2 to $28 depending on the course and the materials used.

Persons enrolling in any of the Community School programs do not need to be residents of the Manistique Area Schools district.

Register, Sept. 16-20
Classes in basic education for adults will be offered at Lakeside School on Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. These classes emphasize the basic subjects of reading, writing, speaking, and arithmetic. Evening classes will be scheduled if there is sufficient enrollment.

Registration for all the Community School programs will be held at the High School Monday through Friday, Sept. 16-20. The hours will be 1 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m., Monday through Thursday, and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday.

VISTA Workers

Those interested in the High School Diploma Program should contact the Community School office to determine what credits are needed to fulfill graduation requirements. In addition to credit from previous high school work, credit toward graduation is often granted for courses completed in the military service, trade schools, or business schools, and for work experience.

An information campaign to promote the Community School program is continuing, Bonifas said. The two VISTA workers assigned to Schoolcraft County, Jan Strasma and Jerry Abrams, have been visiting many homes in the County in the past two weeks to discuss the program and answer questions about it. They will continue to visit homes until the Community School classes open.

For additional information or an appointment for registration outside the scheduled times, call the Community School office, 341-2195.
